Wallace Suit To Challenge JFK's Action

NATO To Spurn Soviet Protest Of Atom Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Allies have agreed on notes rejecting a Soviet protest against a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear force, diplomatic informants said Wednesday.

They said the responses from the United States, Britain and West Germany are expected to be delivered in Moscow by Monday, before the start of next week's NATO ministerial meeting in Ottawa.

At the Ottawa meeting the Atlantic Allies are expected to move forward on plans for a NATO atomic force. The Russians charged in an April 8 note that a NATO nuclear force would arm West Germany with atomic weapons, would impede disarmament talks, and spur the arms race.

It is understood that the Western rejection of the Soviet allegations will say that the purpose of the NATO force is defensive and that it would not involve proliferation of independent national atomic forces.

The United States is against the spread of atomic weapons to other countries and has insisted on a veto power in the proposed NATO force.

Similar Soviet objections were said to have been contained in a memorandum on disarmament submitted by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to Secretary of State Dean Rusk last Saturday.

Also, informants suggested that the main reason that President Kennedy last Monday had canceled some nuclear tests scheduled for this month in Nevada was to save the United States embarrassment during a time when the NATO meeting, the U.N. General Assembly, and the Geneva disarmament conference are under way.

Diplomats said Dobrynin plans to return to Moscow in about a week for consultation of U.S.-Soviet relations.

Ala. Governor To Take Troop Issue To Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's segregationist governor said Wednesday he will file suit challenging President Kennedy's right to send federal troops into Birmingham to settle racial troubles.

"This military dictatorship must be nipped in the bud," said Gov. George C. Wallace in a Montgomery news conference. He said the federal court suit was in preparation but would not say when or where it would be filed.

Kennedy has sent approximately 3,000 soldiers to two military bases in Alabama for possible use in riot control.

Whites Boycott Stores

The legal showdown between Kennedy and Wallace shaped up while downtown merchants voiced fears of an economic disaster for this industrial city of 340,000 because of a reported white boycott.

White shoppers obviously were staying out of downtown stores.

But Negroes returned to stores in increasing numbers, and an integration leader indicated their long-standing boycott, protesting segregation, was ending as the result of a desegregation agreement with businessmen.

What effect a large-scale white boycott would have on the shaky biracial pact was not immediately apparent, although leaders of both races have repeatedly said the agreement would stick.

Negro Ministers Remain Free

In other developments:

Alabama's Supreme Court ruled that the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., integration leader, and 10 other Negro ministers could remain free pending review of their appeal of a court contempt convictions. They were sentenced in Circuit Court here April 26 for defying an injunction against demonstrations.

Another leader, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, faced trial for parading without a permit in the same demonstration April 17.

Wallace acknowledged an offer of support from Gov. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi. He told Barnett, "Your offer to stand with us is heartening." Barnett had offered "every facility we have at our command" in the city's racial troubles.

Thant Says U.N. Cash Dwindling

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant warned Wednesday that the United Nations could go broke by the end of the year. He said cash on hand by that time may be down to $10 million, not enough to meet bills for a month.

He gave that assessment in a report to the U.N. General Assembly's Budgetary Committee as it met to work out a formula for paying for U.N. peace operations in the Congo and Middle East through the end of the year.

In a related development, Haitian Ambassador Carlet R. Auguste said he expects to put $22,500 into the U.N. coffers by Friday and thus assure his country of a vote in the assembly.

Haiti is $144,882 in arrears but with the $22,500 payment would no longer be two full years behind. Under the U.N. Charter, a member two years in arrears loses its assembly vote.

Hotel Fire Routs Angels, Others

BOSTON (UPI)—Five hundred guests including the Los Angeles Angels baseball team were forced to flee Wednesday when a smoky three alarm fire swept through three rooms of the seven-story Hotel Somerset. Five persons were injured, none seriously.

The $20,000 blaze was confined to the third floor of the hotel and brought under control in 45 minutes.

It was the second major hotel fire within two months. A blaze that swept several floors of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel March 29 killed four persons and injured 27 others. An 8-year-old was suspected of setting that fire.

Federal Aid Ban To Segregated Schools Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Education subcommittee voted Wednesday to deny federal funds to segregated schools which do not come up with a desegration plan this June and do not have a plan in operation by June 30, 1964.

The subcommittee also put school districts on notice that during the next few months it will try to make major revisions in the impacted areas program and cut out some children now included.

The anti-segregation amendment was attached to a bill to continue for one more year the impacted areas program. This grants federal money to school districts burdened because of federal activities within their borders. It is the only program of federal aid to public elementary schools.

The subcommittee approved the amendment unanimously and by the same vote sent the bill to the full Education and Labor Committee.

Under the program, the government pays out about $350 million a year to 4,000 school districts reaching into all 50 states.

Under the amendment, offered by the subcommittee chairman, John H. Dent, D-Pa., each segregated school district would be required to file a desegregation plan with the U.S. Office of Education by June 30 this year in order to receive any funds for the school year beginning next September. Each district would have to have the plan in actual operation by June 30, 1964, to stay in the program.

The subcommittee last year heard testimony that 2,000 of 2,837 school districts in 17 Southern states had not taken a first step toward complying with the 1954 Supreme Court integration ruling, requiring the filing of a plan. About 660 of these school districts receive money under the impacted areas program.

Duvalier Says Haiti Will Not Join Red Bloc

President's Term Expires, Takes Title 'Revolution Chief'

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti — (UPI) — President Francois Duvalier said Wednesday night Haiti "will never go Communist."

Duvalier, in an interview with foreign newsmen at the national palace, denied reports he said had been published abroad that he had drafted a law proclaiming Haiti a "socialist republic."

He proclaimed "my country is devoted to peace and not war."

Duvalier received a score of U.S. and other foreign newsmen in the palace Yellow Room overlooking a balcony. Under the balcony, 30 truck loads of blue-shirted militiamen circled the palace driveway lustily chering the president.

Duvalier Takes New Title

Duvalier, who officially took the title of "chief of the revolution" Wednesday, on expiration of his constitutional six-year term as president, made it clear he intends to start a second term on May 22.

He declared himself re-elected for a second six-year term after a 1961 congressional election in which his name appeared on all ballots.

Asked if Haiti was receiving aid from any Communist nation specifically, Czechoslovakia or Cuba, Duvalier replied emphatically: "Absolutely no. Not either."

Relations With U. S. "Eased"

The stocky, white-haired president said recent relations with the United States have been "tough," but have "eased."

"Obviously, (further) improvement will depend on a full understanding and can only be arrived at by top-level members of both governments who must work (together) to achieve mutual interest," he said.

Duvalier termed U.S. removal of government dependents from Port au Prince an "ill-considered attempt to create panic." He denied they were ever in any danger in this "calm and peaceful" nation.

Britain Says Spy Nabbed

SOUTHEND, England (AP)—The British government spotted an Italian-born nuclear scientist as a Soviet spy and nabbed him last month before he could get into action, a British court was told Wednesday.

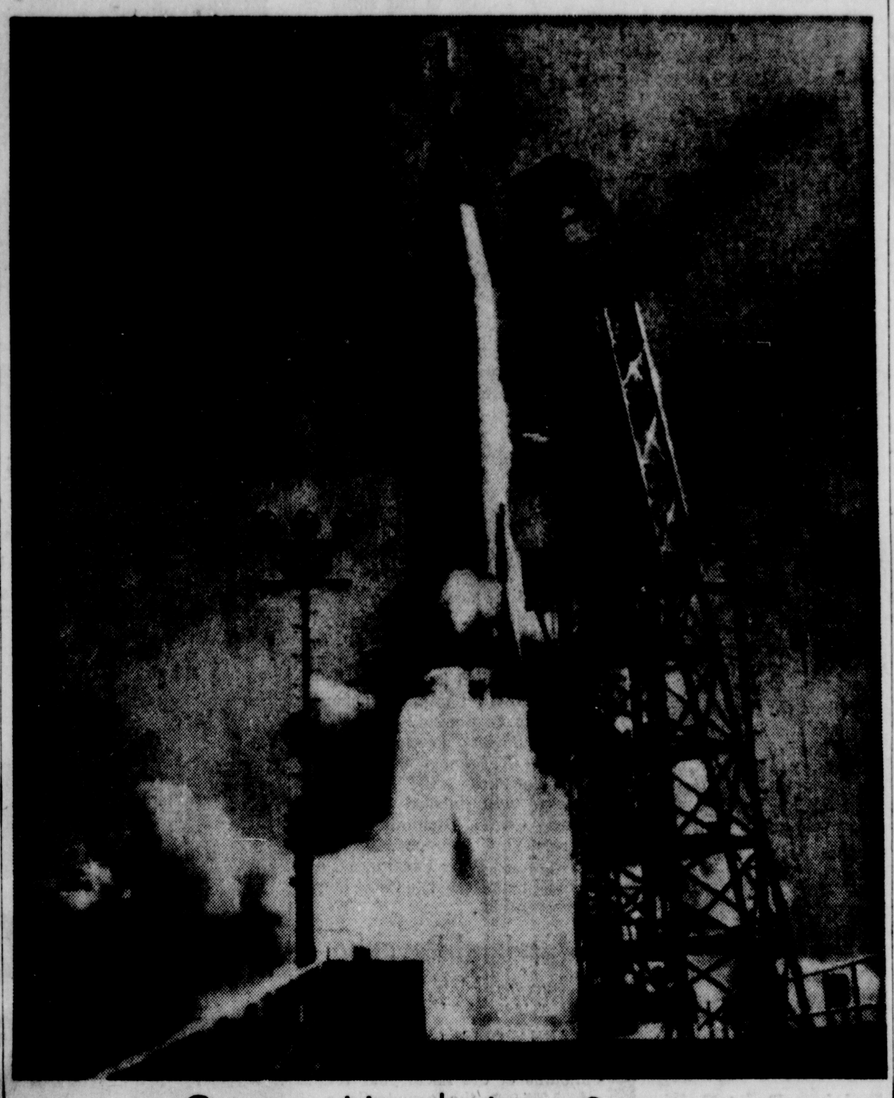

A crown prosecutor asked at a preliminary hearing that the scientist, Giuseppe Martelli, be held for trial on charges involving the Official Secrets Act.

Until his arrest April 28 Martelli, 39, an employe of the European Atomic Energy Community (Euratom), was engaged in research on controlled nuclear fission at Britain's Culham Laboratory.

The prosecutor said that, although Martelli's work at Culham was not itself in a secret category, the scientist was all geared to start funneling to Moscow what information he could collect.

Martelli was formally charged with committing "an act preparatory to the commission of an offense" against the Secrets Act.

He was arrested at Southend upon his return from a trip to Brussels, where Euratom has its headquarters.

West In Final Effort To Save Test Ban Talks

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain searched Wednesday for ways of saving the Geneva nuclear test ban negotiations from collapse.

The last-ditch efforts came at a time when the Soviet Union was stiffening its position.

Informed sources in Moscow said Premier Khrushchev told both President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan last week that he will make no more concessions on the test ban issue.

Western diplomatic sources played down reports that Kennedy and Macmillan were considering meeting with Khrushchev. Whether the Soviet leader is angling for such a summit session remains to be seen.

In a related field, the United States, Britain and West Germany have agreed on notes rejecting Soviet protests against a proposed multilateral nuclear force of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Diplomatic informants in Washington said the notes, due to be delivered in Moscow by next Monday, will be on the theme that this force will be entirely defensive.

The Soviet government is summoning home its ambassador to the United States, Anatoly Dobrynin, for consultation on the state of East-West relations.

U.S. officials have the impression the Kremlin is getting set for a new propaganda assault on the Western allies, probably in connection with the NATO Council meeting next week in Ottawa, Canada.

Intruder "Crashes" White House Gate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A young man, reported to have been carrying a pair of scissors, bolted through a White House gate Wednesday and ran 20 to 25 yards inside the grounds before guards grabbed him and took him into custody.

Police identified the man as Edgar Lee Claiborn, 34, of no fixed address, who told them he was unemployed. Police said Claiborn was admitted to a hospital for mental observation.

Neither the metropolitan police nor the White House police would give reporters details of the incident. However, one officer, asked whether the man had been carrying scissors, replied "whatever he had was taken away."

Pigs Run Wild As Truck Upsets

JIM THORPE, Pa. (AP) — A truck's brakes failed and it ran out of control down steep Broad Mountain near here Wednesday and overturned. Police and residents of the area then started chasing the cargo.

The truck was carrying 149 pigs to market in Philadelphia. The police said 45 pigs were recovered.

Driver Leroy A. Alderfer of Lansadle, Pa., was not hurt.

IAM Ratifies Boeing Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Association of Machinists (IAM) Wednesday approved a new, three-year contract with the Boeing company and wiped out the threat of a strike that threatened to hit the nation's missile production.

The 14,205 to 4,688 vote was hailed as "a new tribute to free collective bargaining" by William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Simkin, who took part in lengthy negotiations between Boeing and the IAM, said the vote insures uninterrupted production of the vital Minuteman intercontinental ballistics missile at Boeing. Simkin was in New Orleans Wednesday inspecting missile installations.

A total of 18,917 votes was cast Friday and was counted here Wednesday. Twenty-four votes were void.

Mindzenty's Release Near; Agreement Set

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Informants said Wednesday night an agreement has been reached that would allow Joseph Cardinal Mindzenty to leave Hungary for Rome at any time. There was a stir in Rome during the evening over an apparently false report that the cardinal was arriving there.

On hearing of the flurry in Rome over the Mindzenty report, the duty officer at the U.S. Legation in Budapest said at midnight: "He is still in the legation building." The Vatican later also denied the rumor of this imminent arrival.

"The agreement is the main thing, the departure is only secondary," a Budapest source said.

The parties to the agreement are the United States, the Hungarian Communist government and the Vatican, the informant said.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary has spent 6½ years in the U.S. Legation here where he took refuge when the Russians crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

Kennedy Watches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was kept up to date Wednesday on astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's orbital flight by combining television-watching with reports from Cape Canaveral.

Astronaut Flies Over Red China

Jaunty AF Major Eats, Sleeps, Sets U.S. Distance Mark

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper completed his ninth orbit at 10:25 p. m. EDT and began his 10th circle of the globe.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper swept around the earth in America's longest and smoothest space flight Wednesday night, eating and sleeping — and confidently heading for a full 22-orbit Pacific splashdown late Thursday.

Hailed for his "almost textbook perfection," the 36-year-old Air Force major hurtled toward a mid-morning decision on whether he should shoot for the assigned 34-hour, 575,000-mile mission. All indications were that he would.

The jaunty astronaut, who calmly dozed during the day when there was nothing better to do, rolled into his 9th orbit of the planet at 8:57 p.m., EDT, over Red China. Orbits 9 through 15 carried an eight-hour sleep period for Cooper if the spaceman so wished.

The astronaut's flight plan took him over Communist Chinese territory — the first U.S. spaceman to cross any Red country — on his 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and final orbits. All four Russian astronauts flew over the United States.

Conserving his fuel as well as his energy, Cooper passed one critical stage in his flight when, in the 7th orbit, he was given the go-ahead to try for 17. At that point, the Mercury control center reported: "Cooper is sharp."

Cooper also smashed the distance record for U.S. space flight.

While the world below relished the excitement of America's most ambitious space voyage, Cooper calmly went ahead with his scientific experiments which included measuring radiation darting into his spacecraft and taking readings on stars.

Circling the earth at 17,546 miles an hour in a well-nigh perfect pattern, Cooper soared into his 8th orbit exactly 10 hours, 24 minutes after his huge Atlas rocket roared off from Cape Canaveral shortly after 9 a.m., EDT.

"All indications so far tell us everything is operating A-O.K. aboard the Faith 7," was the repeated word from officials of the Mercury manned flight program.

Cooper became America's distance record spaceman when he started his seventh orbit, surpassing the six-orbit flight of Walter M. Schirra last October. Schirra was among the U.S. astronauts chatting with Cooper throughout his flight.

Cooper, a native of Shawnee, Okla., rose into the sky atop his Atlas rocket at 9:04 a.m., EDT. His spacecraft hit the "keyhole in the sky" with such incredible pre-

Astronaut's Wife, Daughters See 'Beautiful' Liftoff On TV

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Gordon Cooper saw what she termed a beautiful launch for her astronaut husband's Faith 7 capsule Wednesday and then spent several hours chatting with the wives of other astronauts.

At one time the wives of nine astronauts, first and new, were in the brick and stone ranch-style home 25 miles east of downtown Houston.

Pretty Trudy Cooper and her teen-age daughters, Camala and Janita, chatted with Cooper by telephone just before the near-perfect blast-off at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Then they retired to the privacy of the 15- by 32-foot master bedroom where they watched the actual launching on one of four television sets in the home.

Dave Schwartz a public affairs officer for the Manned Spacecraft Center here, said the trio had emerged from the bedroom smiling after Cooper had gone into orbit.

Schwartz said Mrs. Cooper had decided to take the girls with her when she flys to Hawaii Thursday night or Friday for a reunion with her husband if his 34-hour, 22-orbit flight ends in the Pacific as scheduled.

The wives of the six other original astronauts selected in 1959 arrived at the Cooper home at 11 a.m. in a blue convertible driven by Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the wife of the first U.S. spaceman.

They later were joined by Mrs. A. Armstrong and Mrs. Edward H. White II, whose husbands were among the nine new astronauts selected last September.

Cam and Jan served chocolate cake and lemonade to their mother and visitors on the patio in the fence-enclosed backyard. The youngsters were assisted by Mrs. Charles Berry, the day's first visitor and the wife of the astronauts' physician.

Newsmen asked numerous questions as Mrs. Shepard and her five companions departed after a visit of 2 hours and 40 minutes. The ladies smiled and waved but answered no questions.

"Don't be so curious," Mrs. Malcolm Scott Carpenter said jokingly.

Bill Hiking Debt Ceiling Given House Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Wednesday night overrode Republican opposition and passed a bill that would permit the national debt to soar to a new record high next month so the government can keep paying its bills.

The rollcall vote on passage was 213 to 204.

The debt now stands at $303.5 billion. According to Treasury projections, it will surge in mid-June more than $1 billion above the record high $305.5 billion peak reached last Nov. 30.

The debt now is subject to a legal ceiling of $305 billion which drops under existing law to $300 billion on June 25. The stop-gap legislation, which the House sent to the Senate, would boost this legal limit to $307 billion through June 30 and set it at $309 billion during July and August.

The Treasury has told Congress the debt limit will have to be raised again — possibly to $320 billion — to accommodate the deficit spending in prospect after August, particularly in view of the tax cut President Kennedy wants enacted this year.

Republicans insisted that the administration could get by with a $305 billion debt limit, if it made a real effort to hold down spending. A substitute bill would extend indefinitely the temporary $305 billion limit.

When their proposal was rejected on a 222 to 195 rollcall, the Republicans then voted passage of the administration-backed bill.

Democratic leaders overcame the GOP assault by winning support of a majority of southern Democrats.

Soviet People Wish Cooper Good Luck

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moscow Radio joined individual Russians Wednesday in wishing good luck to American astronaut L. Gordon Cooper and expressing hope for future U.S.-Soviet cooperation in space.

"The Soviet people, who were pioneers in space, are hoping that this scientific experiment works out sucessfully," the radio said.

"We sincerly hope that its results will serve the development of peaceful cooperation and above all cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States in the study of the laws of the universe."

Compared to previous Soviet reactions to American space flights, Mowcow Radio's announcement was enthusiastic. But the Soviets emphasized that Cooper's 22-orbit target was well short of the 64 orbits made last summer by Russian cosomonaut Andrian Nikolayev.

Police Arrest Nine Cambridge Negroes

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Police arrested nine Negroes Wednesday night, as demonstrations continued to plague this racially troubled Eastern Shore community.

First arrested were a group of nine Negro teen-agers who entered the lobby of a bowling lane known as the Recreation Center and sat on the floor in protest to segregation policies of the management. All were charged with disorderly conduct and failure to obey an officer and held in lieu of $200 bond each.

City Police walked seven of the youths to waiting police cars as a crowd of some 150 white persons stood by and watched. There was some jeering on the part of the bystanders, with several shouts of "Sleep good" from the crowd.

Two of the nine teen-agers, both boys, had to be dragged from the building when they refused to leave under their own power.

Some 60 Negroes were arrested Tuesday and charged with disorderly conduct, failure to obey an officer or trespass. The Dorchester County Jail was unable to accommodate all of the demonstrators and 15 of them had to be taken to the neighboring Talbot County Jail, which also is approaching capacity.

Negro leaders in Cambridge have vowed they will pack the jails until their demands are met. All of those arrested have refused bond, and a group of teen-agers released late Tuesday after their arrest Monday, were back in jail within 15 minutes when they sat-in at the Recreation Center. They had been released earlier on orders from the Dorchester County state's attorney.

Their re-arrest touched off mass demonstrations that resulted in the arrest of some 45 Negroes who marched on the jail in protest. State Police and K-9 dogs were called in to help quell the disturbances.

Demonstrators in the Dorchester County Jail Wednesday night were singing, shouting and cheering. One reporter on the scene said it sounded like a "football stadium when the home team has just scored."

Mom Thankful For Cooper's "Good Start"

TECUMSEH, Okla. (AP)—"I'm not exactly worried any more—just anxious for it to be over," Hattie Cooper said Wednesday after her only son had begun a 22-orbit space flight.

After the tension of the countdown had eased, Mrs. Cooper said a successful mission for her son would be a perfect birthday present. The flight ends Thursday afternoon, her 63rd birthday.

Her mother, Orena Herd, dried her eyes and said, "I'm just thankful to the good Lord that He gave him a good start."

Mrs. Cooper is staying at her mother's home in this small central Oklahoma town of about 2,600 population. She said she had left her home at Carbondale, Colo., a couple of weeks ago "to try to hide."

The two women were joined in their television vigil by Mrs. Herd's pastor, the Rev. Roma Stewart, and a neighbor, Mattie Hartoon.

At nearby Shawnee, where Cooper was born, his paternal grandmother, Cora Cooper, listened of the flight preparations on radio and went to a neighbor's house about 20 minutes before liftoff to watch television.

"I felt today as I've felt all along," she said, "proud of Gordon."

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI)—A Navy captain who heads the search for the Thresher said Wednesday a half dozen objects located on the ocean floor will be examined closely next week to determine if one is the hull of the lost nuclear submarine.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews told a naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster that a yard-by-yard search of the areas near these objects will be made with four special instruments.

Guard Priority Divisions Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, changing long standing policy, Wednesday identified four National Guard infantry divisions and two Guard armored divisions in the East and South for early call-up in the event of an emergency.

The six priority divisions are the 42nd Infantry of New York, the 26th Infantry of Massachusetts, the 28th Infantry of Pennsylvania, the 30th Infantry of North Carolina, the 50th Armored of New Jersey and the 30th Armored of Tennessee.

At the same time, the Army named two guard infantry divisions—the 38th of Indiana and the 47th of Minnesota—which are assigned special missions.

The announcement did not say so, but it is known the special mission divisions would be sent to reinforce Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone if an urgent need arose.

Stockholm Battles Smallpox Outbreak

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Swedish health authorities Wednesday sought to stop an outbreak of smallpox in the capital.

Five persons have been infected and about 40 others have been isolated, authorities said.

One middle-aged woman has died of smallpox.

Her husband and nephew were admitted to the hospital a few days later with the same symptoms. The nephew's condition was reported serious.

Day Or Night, It's Confusing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—If you have trouble remembering what day of the week it is, consider astronaut Gordon Cooper's dilemma.

Approximately every 45 minutes he passes from daylight to darkness and 45 minutes later back to daylight again as his Faith 7 spacecraft swoops around and around the globe.

That means he will pass through 22 sunsets and sunrises if he completes his full 34-hour mission.

Adding to the confusion, Cooper crosses the International Date Line in the Pacific once each orbit. His first day he swept from Wednesday to Thursday and then back to Wednesday again.

He also goes from spring in the United States to autumn in Australia and back to spring.

But he doesn't reset his spacecraft clock at each change. It's set firmly on Greenwich mean time.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is the way Maryland and Delaware representatives voted Wednesday as the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase the national debt limit:

Republicans against: Mathias and Morton of Maryland.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Wednesday publicly announced its acceptance of a July 5 meeting in Moscow to try to end the Sino-Soviet dispute. Senior ideologist Mikhail Suslov was named to head its delegation. The Communist Chinese announced Tuesday they would attend.

The Soviet government news agency Tass said that in addition to Suslov, the Soviet delegation will include Communist Party Central Committee Secretaries Yuri Andropov, Leonid Ilyichov and Boris Ponomarev, also Soviet ambassador to China Stepan Chervonenko.

Maryland Revenue Shows 6.2% Increase

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's revenue receipts for the first nine months of the fiscal year totaled $378,235,992, the comptroller's office announced Wednesday.

The amount was 6.2 per cent higher than for the same period last year and accounted for 68.1 per cent of the $555,042,773 the state is expected to take in by June 30.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said sales tax collections were still running about $1 million below their anticipated level but may be offset through gains in some other sources.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) —The next time you pay a hospital bill and need balm for the pain in the purse, think of this:

"It could be higher."

Nationwide, in fact, the bill for hospital care could be nearly $40 million more.

That's how much—at $1 an hour—the hospitals would have to add to the collective hospitalization bill across the country if volunteers decided to stop doing something for nothing in 6,374 hospitals in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The American Hospital Association (AHA), in a new look at the contribution of volunteers who generously give their local hospitals helping hands, figures it this way:

—Adult volunteers contribute 820,000 work weeks of service a year.

—Teenagers contribute 162,000 additional work weeks annually.

That's a total of 982,000 work weeks of contributed service—or 39.2 million hours of for-free help for the hospital a year. At $1 an hour, the value of the volunteer help, comes close to $40 million a year.

In many cases, the value of contributed service exceeds $1 an hour. Consider, for example, the collar value of a school teacher who volunteers to help entertain the occupants of the pediatric ward.

The volunteers include doctor's wives, social workers, teachers, homemakers, engineers, bus drivers, dime store clerks and—you name it. Practically every occupation is represented.

The activities of those working in the something-for - nothing corps make the burden lighter in almost every hospital department.

Volunteers escort patients to X-ray, occupational therapy and other treatment areas. They give service at information desks, in hospital libraries, and central supply departments. In the latter unit they prepare materials for sterilization and distribution throughout the hospital, including the surgical suites.

The teenagers, fleet - footed, function as messengers. They help out in the office, arrange flowers and wait on tables in hospital coffee shops.

Russ Ban Six British Children's Books

MOSCOW (AP)—An exhibition of British children's books opened Tuesday—minus six books banned by Soviet authorities.

Banned were three encyclopedia volumes dealing with the Soviet suppression of the Hungarian rebellion and Premier Khrushchev's role in the denunciation of Stalin, a pictorial history of Europe, a book about the United Nations and a book about World War II.

After arguments, the British sponsors managed to include a children's version of Sir Winston Churchill's history of World War II.

Generals Transferred

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House nominated Maj. Gen. Hamilton Hawkins Howze for promotion to lieutenant general Tuesday. He also was named as commanding general of the 8th U. S. Army and United Nations forces in Korea.

Howze will succeed Gen. Stanley Meloy, who will be placed on the retired list.

Howze currently is commanding general of the 18th Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg, N. C.

He will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. William Childs Westmoreland, now superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Westmoreland will be promoted to lieutenant general and succeeded at West Point by Maj. Gen. James B. Lampert, director of military conservation of the Army Engineers.

The transfers will become effective on the retirement of Gen. Meloy.

Old Schoolhouse Turned Into Children's Church

MILTON, Mass. (AP) — Each Sunday morning about 50 children gather at their own little church for their own formal worship service.

The size of the church is no indication of the importance the children and their parents attach to it. It has just seven pews, which are only about two and a half feet high, and the tip of its white steeple barely touches the sky.

But the church is a major cornerstone in the religious foundation of the First Parish, Unitarian, in Milton.

About 25 years ago the parishioners decided Sunday School classes were not enough to introduce religion to their children.

They felt the children needed serious adult-like services, simple enough for them to understand but solemn enough to invoke at least the most unsophisticated religious feeling.

So the Unitarians bought a 100-year old, one-room schoolhouse, moved it onto the grounds next to the First Parish and built a similar steeple.

The main church was built in 1787, the fourth the parish had constructed since its formation 17 years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth.

Only kindergartners through eighth graders attend the children's church, which is run by a junior council the children elect.

One church official who is happy in his job is 10-year old Michael Glendon, the bell ringer. His hearty work on Sunday mornings sounds the official bell to his fellow churchgoers.

They begin to arrive shortly before 11 o'clock, the boys dressed perhaps in brown suit coats and matching short paints, and the girls, in wide-brimmed yellow or blue straw hats and plaid suits or lace dresses.

The service lasts about 15 or 20 minutes.

Until June, the sermons will be given by W. Bradford Greeley, 24, a senior at Crane Theological School, affiliated with Tufts University.

The children serve as ushers. They have their own choir. And they collect and count the offerings, which are kept separate from other church funds.

The church's simplicity, the jewel-embroidered altar cloth, a wood carving of Christ and three children at his feet, a plaque signifying the Crusades and courage, the white walls and contrasting plain dark maroon drapes and the V-shaped roof take the child out of the busy world of Little League, playing cops and robbers, and "fighting Viet Cong guerrillas."

Judge Admits Ex-Legislators' Jury Testimony

BALTIMORE (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen admitted as evidence Wednesday grand jury testimony given by former congressmen Thomas F. Johnson of Maryland and Frank W. Boykin of Alabama.

Government prosecutors had asked to use the testimony to show possible conflicts of testimony in the conspiracy and conflict-of-interest trial of the two congressmen.

Judge Thomsen ruled there was no pressure on either Johnson or Boykin before the grand jury and that none of their Fifth Amendment rights was infringed when they gave the testimony last fall.

The judge said he was convinced Johnson wanted to appear before the grand jury before it voted on the indictment against him. Thomsen also said both Johnson and Boykin knew before they testified that they were potential defendants in the case.

Johnson and his attorney, George Cochran Doub, objected to the use of Johnson's grand jury testimony, maintaining he was improperly pressured by the Justice Department to appear before the panel last September.

Boykin's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said that if Boykin and Johnson "were importuned to go before the grand jury, there was something worse than compulsion in violation of the Fifth Amendment — there was deception."

Government prosecutors said that Johnson was given the opportunity to testify before the grand jury, but was told it was his own choice and he was not being urged to appear.

Johnson moved to supress the grand jury testimony Tuesday, and U.S. District Court Judge Thomsen dismissed the jury until he ruled on the motion.

Johnson and Boykin are charged with trying to influence the Justice Department to drop its 1959 mail fraud charges against J. Kenneth Edlin, a Miami savings and loan promoter. Edlin and an associate, William L. Robinson, are co-defendants in the trial.

Doub also said that Joseph D. Tydings, U.S. attorney for Maryland, told him that the grand jury had already decided to indict Johnson and Boykin when they were asked to appear before the panel.

Tydings denied that he told Doub about the indictment, although he did say that he told him most of the investigation was completed.

Castro In Leningrad

MOSCOW (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived Wednesday in Leningrad on his tour of the Soviet Union and received an ovation from crowds at the airport, the official Tass news agency reported.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Sen. Paul A. Dorf, D-Balto 5th, said Wednesday he will ask the Legislative Council to conduct a comprehensive study of Maryland's narcotic laws.

Dorf said he had received many queries about possible gaps in the state's narcotics laws after the death of Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb Friday. The medical examiner said the big National Football League player died from an overdose of heroin.

Dorf said the council should study all the various narcotics laws to see whether they should be stiffened.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. H. Boyd Wylie, retired dean of the University of Maryland School of Medicine, died Wednesday at Maryland General Hospital. He was 76.

Dr. Wylie retired in July, 1955, and had been a member of the faculty since 1913. He was appointed dean of the medical school in June, 1948. Dr. Wylie was a member of the American Medical Association and the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Wednesday C. William Hetzer, a Hagerstown engineering executive, is among several persons he is considering for appointment to the Maryland Racing Commission.

An opening on the commission will be created June 1 when H. Courtenay Jenifer's five-year-term expires.

Hetzer is a former president of the Baltimore Raceway and is now president of the Harford County Fair Association.

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than 30 Baltimore civic and business leaders attended dedication ceremonies Wednesday at the multi-million-dollar United States Gypsum plant in the Curtis Bay-Hawkins Point section.

Graham J. Morgan, company president, said Baltimore was selected for the plant because of its favorable location and accessibility to important markets on the Eastern Seaboard. The plant opened in December of last year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Allen J. Greenough, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said Wednesday the railroad industry's toughest problem was the passenger deficit, which amounted to some $500 million last year.

Greenough blamed government regulations and taxes and government financing of highways and airports. Nonetheless, Greenough said the ailing railroad industry is on the threshold of an economic resurgence.

He addressed some 300 industrialists and businessmen, attending the celebration of the 135th anniversary of the Canton Railroad's founding.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, and their wives leave Thursday for a three-week European trip.

The party will visit University of Maryland branches in Madrid, Zaragoza, Verona, Munich and Heidelberg. Tawes will hand out diplomas at commencement exercises at Heidelberg June 2.

Tawes also will visit Paris, Barcelona, Aux En Provence, Monaco Venice Innsbruck and Rothenberg.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The body of a 43-year-old Baltimore man who drowned on a fishing trip in Queen Annes County April 28 was recovered Wednesday by Tidewater Fisheries Commission inspectors.

Inspector Ed Whipp, flying the department's patrol plane, sighted the body of Fred B. Sheely on the beach at Long Marsh Island near the mouth of Cox's Creek. It was recovered by Inspector William T. Lunch in a patrol boat.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Rev. William H. Kohn, pastor of Redeemer Church in Hyattsville, Md., accepted Wednesday the presidency of the Southeastern District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The acceptance came at the district convention, one day after the presidency was established as a full-time job.

Kohn, previously district president from 1954 to 1959, must give up his pastorate. In the past, the president has retained his pastorate and district headquarters have been at his church.

Council Fires Fiscal Adviser

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—John F. Briggs has been dismissed by the Montgomery County Council from his post of fiscal adviser.

The termination of his contract, effective Wednesday, was prompted by dissension among some high level county employes, said one person close to the Republican-dominated county administration. The spokesman asked not to be identified.

Briggs declined comment on the matter Wednesday, and County Manager Mason A. Butcher said he had not been informed of the council's action.

"I will have a statement later, but until I have heard from all persons involved in this, I do not want to say anything," Briggs said.

The vote, in a closed council session Tuesday night, was taken after lengthy and heated discussion.

Briggs was hired by the council Jan. 8 at a salary of $25,000 a year to help the new GOP-dominated council carry out its campaign pledges.

Briggs is on leave from the University of Maryland College of Business and Public Administration.

Redistrict Referendum Petition Grows

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The League of Women Voters announced Wednesday that 10,875 signatures have been placed on a petition to have Maryland voters pass on the state's most recent congressional redistricting law.

Mrs. Patricia Ogburn of Montgomery County, chairman of the league's petition campaign, said at a state meeting of the league that she is confident the required 12,500 signatures will be obtained by June 1. Half of the signatures must be filed by that date and the remaining 12,500 by July 1.

"We are serious and we will win our goal," she said.

If the league is successful in its drive, the question will be put on the ballot in 1964. There is no general election in Maryland this year.

The league is attempting to repeat last year's successful drive in which it forced a redistricting law to be put up to the choice of the voters in November and it was defeated.

The new bill, signed into law by Gov. Tawes, creates an 8th Congressional District stretching from the Pennsylvania State line to Southern Maryland.

The league has criticized the law as "not acceptable because it is not equitable representation."

Mrs. Ogburn said Wednesday that Montgomery County has turned in the greatest number of signatures so far, 3,974, but added that she expects more than 20,000 from that county before May 29.

Other county totals so far:

Frederick, 1,977; Baltimore County, 1,845; Baltimore City, 1,037; Prince Georges, 750; Howard, 550; Anne Arundel, 420, and Harford, 322.

New Find Reported

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Tass news agency reported Tuesday that Russian astronomers have discovered an abnormal belt of radiation around the planet Jupiter. It said Puckovo Observatory radio-astronomers found the belt with the aid of a radio telescope equipped with a sensitive receiving device.

Family Hears Cooper Via Special Radios

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Special radios taken from Walter Schirra's Sigma 7 capsule were placed in astronaut Gordon Cooper's Texas home Wednesday so his family could hear his words as he spun across the United States.

The radios from Sigma 7, which flew last October, were able to pick up Cooper's transmissions from Faith 7 whenever he passed near Houston. The Cooper home is located near there.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors' confidence and investment psychology continue to improve, says a Wall Street stock analyst.

The opinion was advanced by Kenneth Ward of the brokerage firm, Hayden, Stone & Co., who says this was particularly so last week as a result of a special 50-cent dividend declared by General Motors Corp.

The situation also was helped by the cautious optimism being expressed by corporate officials, the growing likelihood of further inflation and the improvement in many lines of business, according to Ward.

"Many individuals may be undecided about the market's immediate trend and the ability of this broad advance to sustain itself wthout a normal correction or period of consolidation," he says, "yet they are becoming increasingly optimistic about the market's longer range prospects and are not inclined to abandon any well-entrenched position in sound dividend-paying stocks."

Ward adds that while the market has reached the 720-730 area on the Dow Jones industrial average where heavier psychological resistance is indicated, it must be re-emphasized that the various averages should be considered only as a guide for detecting trends and note as an indication of what the general market is doing or is expected to do.

HAIR-RAISING EXPERIENCE — Teresa Czadek, 13, displays her 34-inch tresses in Toronto, Canada, after she learned they can keep on growing. The schoolgirl had offered to sell her hair for $250 to pay her tuition. When a manager of a furniture company heard of her plight, he gave Teresa the money and told her to keep her hair. He said he remembered how unhappy his own daughter was when she had to clip off her pony tail.

Seven Corporations Join Billionaire Sales Club

NEW YORK (UPI) — While business confidence took its grand false plunge last year, the Billion-Dollar Sales Club achieved its sharpest corporate membership increase since 1956.

The mythical club of billionaire industrial concerns took in seven new members without scratching a single 1961 participant, lifting membership to a new peak of 60 firms with record aggregate sales of almost $147.4 billion vs. $128.8 billion a year earlier.

Of the seven new members, Republic Steel and American Motors were reinstated after being temporarily stricken from the rolls in 1961. The five other entrants were all making their debuts.

Burlington Industries, the nation's largest textile company, qualified for membership at least partially through its acquisition of Erwin Mills during the year. International Telephone & Telegraph, Monsanto Chemical, Eastman Kodak and U. S. Rubber made the grade almost entirely through internally generated sales increases.

All the new members came from the ranks of manufacturers whose membership now numbers 51. The non-manufacturing billionaire membership remained unchanged at nine.

There were no changes in position among the top 10 corporations and all showed sales increases except the A&P which suffered a slight decline.

General Motors took first place with a huge 28 per cent or $3.3 billion sales jump. Rounding out the big 10 in order were Standard Oil (N.J.), American Telephone, Ford, A&P, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Socony Mobil, U. S. Steel and Texaco.

A look at the complete list showed 54 members with sales increases over 1961 and only six with declines — A&P, Safeway, General Dynamics, Boeing, Martin-Marietta and Sinclair Oil.

There were some radical position shifts within the list. North American Aviation and Lockheed rose six slots each while Shell Oil, IBM and Firestone gained four positions each. Because it sold a subsidiary, American Tobacco tumbled 10 places down the list despite a minor sales increase on an adjusted basis. General Dynamics dipped six positions and Boeing and Union Carbide four apiece.

Oil, with 10 members, remained the industry with largest representation in the club, as it has for many years. Other large participation came from the store chains with eight members and from the aerospace industry with six aircraft and three electronic participants.

The auto, food processing and chemical industries boasted four members apiece. No other industry has more than three members enrolled.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Is Now Making News

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — A man who shared a Pulitzer prize for news reporting now is helping make news in the Oregon State Senate.

Glen M. Stadler, of Eugene, Ore., who served in the Oregon House of Representative during 1957-58, is beginning a four-year term as a State Senator.

In addition to his duties as Senator, Stadler, a Democrat, helps supply his three Oregon radio stations with news of the Legislature. He is owner and president of radio station KEED AM & FM, Springfield-Eugene; and executive vice president of KGAY, Salem, and KGAL, Lebanon.

A native of Woodburn, Ind., 51-year-old Stadler joined United Press in Lansing, Mich., to cover the legislature. He later was transferred to New York, and then to Europe. He was United Press bureau manager in Paris when the Germans took over in 1940.

A year later he was transferred to Berlin, and covered the Finnish army in Russia before being interned by the Germans after Pearl Harbor.

While interned, Stadler and four other United Press newsmen wrote "This is The Enemy," which they smuggled out of Germany when released in a prisoner exchange.

Stadler shared a Pulitzer award for foreign reporting in 1941.

After release from Germany, he returned to the United States, joined the Columbia Broadcasting System and went to Madrid and, in 1944, to London.

He married a Minneapolis girl, Helene Nielsen, in 1947, and moved to Oregon in 1949 to enter the University of Oregon where he received a masters degree in journalism in 1950. He then taught radio journalism at Oregon for two terms.

Water Rationed

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Hong Kong government Tuesday announced a drastic new water-rationing program in this drought stricken colony that will limit the supply to four-hour periods every other day. Officials warned a six-month-long drought threatens to halt the production of electricity.

Electronics Helps Make Superior Golf Balls

NEW YORK (UPI)—Golf balls and space ships now have at least one thing in common as they soar through the air. It's electronics.

A revolutionary golf ball, produced with an assist from some of the space age techniques that go into the testing of interplanetary vehicles, is ready for blastoff after a six-year development program, according to its manufacturer.

The ball also has a one-piece cover, first of its kind on high-compression golf balls, said A. G Spalding & Bros.

When the technique of manufacturing this cover had been developed, the company said, it was decided that a testing system should be set up to guarantee that each of the new golf balls would meet the standard set by the United States Golf Association for maximum initial velocity.

The USGA rule on distance for tournament golf balls is that "the velocity of the ball on impact shall not be greater than 250 feet per second . . . when the temperature of the ball is 75 degrees Fahrenheit . . . and a minimum tolerance of 2 per cent will be allowed on any ball in such velocity test," thus establishing a distinct limit to maintain golf's competitive standard.

Scientists at Spalding's Research and Development staff at Chicopee, Mass., assembled an electronic device that propels the new 1963 "Dots" through a miniature indoor driving range, measuring the initial velocity of each ball and automatically rejecting those which fail to meet the maximum distance potential. The machine "tees off" every two seconds on a simulated 280-yard drive. After the balls have gone through the velocity trial, they are electronically scrutinized for size, weight and compression to meet additional USGA requirements. In these "torture tests," the balls are subjected to 50 batterings with a 115-pound weight, placed in water for 16 hours, pounded another 50 times by the weight and individually shot 50 times into an octagonal shaped drum at 97 miles an hour.

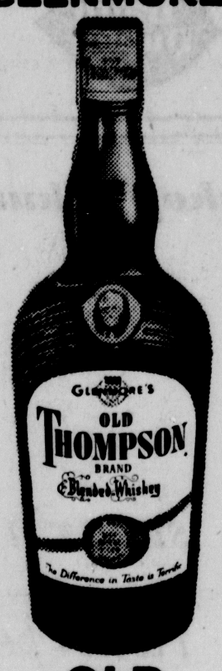

The "Dot's" one-piece cover is made of an exclusive chemical compound called Polyunidyne which the company said introduces unprecedented durability. This replaces the balata rubber compound used in previous balls, which were of two-piece construction with a seam.

A LESSON IN ACADEMIC FREEDOM — Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, the president of the College of the City of New York, congratulates Dr. Jaime Benitez (left), chancellor of the University of Puerto Rico, on his speech in New York. A group including members of the Communist-dominated International Union of Students, based in Prague, had tried to force cancellation of Dr. Benitez' speech at C.C.N.Y. Gallagher lashed out at them and said he would never censor speakers. The objecting group accused Benitez of curbing student government.

Bedside Network Beamed To 115 Veterans Hospitals

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a story about network broadcasts which most people never hear but which maintain consistently high listener ratings. It is a network operated from a tape recorder, without call letters or a transmitter.

The broadcasting complex is the Bedside Network, heard in 115 Veterans Administration hospitals throughout the nation. Its listeners are the thousands of patients in the hospitals whose acting talents are played back to them through magnetic tape over the hospital's closed circuit radio network.

The Bedside Network is operated by the Veterans Hospital Radio and Television Guild, a non-profit organization of more than 400 volunteer actors, writers, directors, advertising men, musicians and engineers who train hospitalized veterans to perform and produce their own musical shows and dramatic plays.

This year, the Bedside Network is celebrating its 15th anniversary. Endorsed by the Veterans Administration as "prescription medican opportunity to act out their emotions, thereby releasing hostilities and anxieties."

While the Network lists such show business luminaries as Sally Ann Howes, Maurice Evans, Gwen Verdon, Berry Furness, Bud Collyer and Kay Armen as volunteers, it is not their job to entertain patients when they visit hospitals. Rather, they coach, advise and encourage patients to put on their own shows from professional scripts donated by networks and advertising agencies.

Visits by Network volunteers are not restricted to ordinary hospital wards or out-patient clinics. Frequently they work in locked mental wards potentially violent patients shuffle about in a dream world of their own.

One of the volunteers' most satisfying experiences was with a patient who hadn't spoken a word to anyone in six weeks. One night he opened up during the taping of a network show and, in the words of actress Anne Seymour, "everything just poured out of him." He was discharged within three months.

What kind of shows do the patients put on? Anything. Paraplegics who have lost use of their limbs enact the roles of cowboys, private eyes or suave lotharios. Musicals and dramatic skits also are recorded because the shows are on magnetic tape, they can be easily stored and replayed.

The Bedside Network was created in 1948 after a group of entertainers performed at a hospital on Staten island, in New York. A singer returned to a ward to retrieve some forgotten sheet music. She found the patients who had been laughing and joking only moments before had lapsed into their previous silent gloom. Moved by this discovery, the singer, Jean Tighe, looked for something that would have a longer and perhaps more lasting effect on the patients. The answer she found was to teach the patients to entertain themselves. The Bedside Nework was founded.

Shipworkers Strike

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, England (UPI)—Three-hundred electricians at the Vickers-Armstrong shipyard here Tuesday began a strike that could cause a delay in work on Britain's second nuclear submarine and affect the nation's Polaris program. The strikers walked out in sympathy with other electricians fired because of jurisdictional dispute.

Before World War II, the Soviet Ukraine accounted for nearly twenty-five per cent of Russia's entire wheat and corn crops, a third of its barley and two-thirds of its sugar beet output.

The average American farmer produces about double the number of bushels of corn per acre that a Russian farmer produces.

Decorating Tips Are Given To Newlyweds

NEW YORK (UPI)—When furnishing that first "loverly" love nest, plan prudently.

One of the perennial problems that comes up in decorating — whether it's on a shoestring or with unlimited means, a one-room apartment or a six-room house— is when to budget and when to splurge.

A good philosophy to follow, advises Modern Bride magazine, is to use a "first things first" approach.

To start, make three lists of furnishings: musts for living, nice for livability, and wonderful if you can afford them.

In the "musts for living" category, list basic furniture, lamps, floor coverings, tableware, linens, cooking equipment, and cleaning paraphernalia.

At the very top of your "nice for livability" list go accessories. These put the finishing touch on any decorating scheme, and like a signature on a letter, they make your room indelibly yours.

And the best part about accessories is that they can be anything: plants, a print you especially like, some trivets you found in a thrift shop, baskets or samples of native art you brought home from your honeymoon.

Pictures add a great amount of warmth to a room. But do more than just hang one picture here and there.

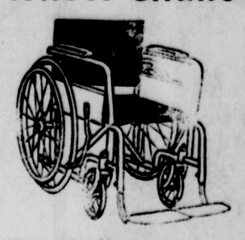

Try a wall arrangement of paintings, prints, sculpture, and whatever else takes your fancy. Remember that a huge colored ashtray perks up a corner table.

For many young couples, the third category—"wonderful if you can afford them"—may have to wait a while. But it's always nice to have something to dream about, isn't it?

Tips Offered To Persons About To Buy Diamonds

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're thinking of buying or even eyeing a diamond, here are some important things to know:

Be guided by what the Jewelry Industry Council calls the "4-C's" —color, clarity, cut and carat.

Color in a diamond is a delicate thing. A faint shade or tone can make a world of difference. The finest commercial diamonds resemble a crystal clear drip of water with a faint bluish tinge. The bluer the tint the more valuable the diamond.

Calrity refers to a diamond's freedom from imperfections such as spots of carbon, internal cracks or tiny bubbles. Nothing in nature is perfect and a diamond is a product of nature. However, the smaller the flaws in a diamond and the fewer there are, the greater the value.

Cut refers to the shape of the diamond and the process by which it is changed from the rough to the faceted stone. Until the stone is cut its value is but a potenial. The full measure of beauty is attained only by the proper cutting upon which hinges the diamond's fire and brilliance.

Caret is the acceptable standard of weight for diamonds. The carat is divided into 100 points. Thus, when a girl says her diamond is one quarter carat she means 25 points.

Keep in mind that there are more small diamonds in nature than large ones. As with everything else, rarity creates value among diamonds. Thus a two carat diamond may cost three times as much as a one carat stone which is otherwise equal in all respects.

So far as can be determined, the diamond ring has been the accepted and preferred engagement token since the 15th century, when it apparently began to be the custom with royalty.

The average American will consume his weight in food in about 50 days.

American Hopes To Open French Restaurant

DIVONNE, France (UPI)—Alan Lewis is trying to do what no American has ever done before—run a three-star restaurant in France.

There are only 12 restaurants in this exalted category in all France, according to the authoritative Guide Michelin. Naturally they are all operated by Frenchmen and all have French chefs.

But Lewis, whose group, restaurant Associates, runs a notable series of restaurants in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, thinks he is on the verge of breaking into this exclusive fraternity.

It has been an uphill fight for the past two years, ever since Restaurant Associates bought 137 acres of this resort town near Geneva, including a gambling casino, two hotels, thermal baths, theater, night club, tennis court and three swimming pools.

Divonne had been coasting along on a reputation built at the turn of the century when Russian royalty and American and British millionaires came primarily for the roulette and chemin-de-fer.

When Lewis and his colleagues took over in June 1962 they instituted a big-name entertainment policy and set out to make Divonne an all-year rather than a seasonal resort.

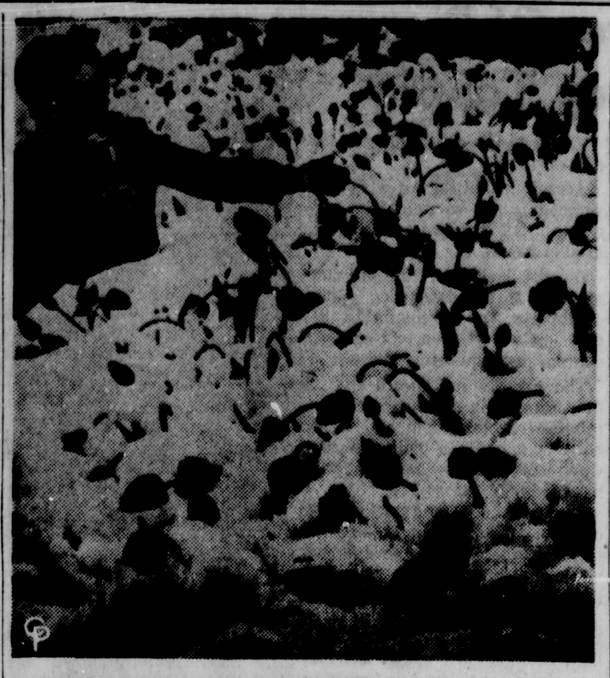

The big-name policy paid off and Divonne, according to Lewis, now is the most profitable of France's 149 casinos—its nearest rivals are Nice and Enghien. He considers this somewhat of a triumph for American methods which have been introduced without affecting the continental charm of the resort.

Search For Missing Engineer Continues

STEPHENS CITY, Va. (AP)—A search continued in a wooded area west of here Wednesday for a Maryland chemical engineer missing from his summer home since Tuesday morning.

Authorities also dragged a pond near the home two miles west of Stephens City. State Police said no trace was found of Harold Thomas, 57, of Elkton, Md.

Mrs. Thomas said her husband was gone when she went to look for him in the yard Tuesday. She said he was fond of taking walks around the Thomas' eight-acre woodland property.

Only one speaker of the House ever became president. He was James K. Polk of Tennessee.

GOP Controls Liquor Board

The Republicans took control of the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage Licenses Commissioners yesterday at the Court House.

Melvin Sloan was elected chairman as Reatus Spiker, Oldtown Road, assumed his duties on the board. Both Sloan and Spiker are Republicans. The third board member is Milton Gerson, a Democrat.

The GOP majority then announced that Mrs. Shirley Nolan, who has been secretary for the board since 1960, is being replaced by Mrs. Jennie Lancaster, city. Mrs. Nolan is a Democrat and Mrs. Lancaster a Republican.

The job as board secretary is not covered by Civil Service.

The two board inspectors, Angus Turnbull and Edward R. Willison were retained. They are both Republicans and have been associated with the board for some years.

The board's only action otherwise was the grant a beer and wine off-sale permit to Earl Seifarth for Engle's Red Hill Market on U. S. Route 40 about seven miles west of Cumberland.

More Air Taxi Services Introduced At Airports

By MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jet planes span the continent in about six hours. Then the traveler often spends an hour or more — particularly in and around big cities — battling traffic to cover the last few miles to his destination.

There is a way to beat the crush — flying taxis.

Air taxi services are available in all 48 continental states, Hawaii and Alaska at major air terminals and suburban and rural airports.

And more and more travelers on pleasure and business trips are taking advantage of the air-age public transportation service.

Last year members of the National Air Taxi Conference, based in 180 airports, flew 131,000 passengers more than 15 million miles on nearly 60,000 "calls" — or more than 150 flights per day.

Air taxi volume has increased into a single group that would uphold flight operational procedures and standards to the satisfication of the Federal Aviation Agency and the scheduled airlines.

The principal reason for the steady growth in popularity, believes NATC President James Loeb is two fold:

"Passengers today are time-conscious as never before and if they can save an hour here or there, it makes traveling that much more pleasant.

"In addition, there are about 6,000 airports in this country, only one-tenth of which are utilized by the scheduled airlines. Air taxi operators can make us of all and take passengers to the 'off-line' locations that are not serviced by the major airlines."

Loeb, who is also president of the Air Taxi Company of Red Bank, N. J., is an ex-Navy pilot who spent 20 years flying both military and commercial aircraft.

His own fleet, operating in the New York Metropolitan area, has grown from 6 to 12 aircraft in five years and he is decidely optimistic about the future of the air taxi services, especially since the advent of the jet age.

Rates for air taxi services are pretty much standarized across the country; 50 cents a round-trip mile for single-engine aircraft that carry three passengers, 80 cents a round-trip mile for twin-engine planes that carry four passengers. Most operators also offer special rates for heavily-traveled routes.

(For instance, Loeb's ATC charges $18 per plane for shuttle service between Newark, LaGuardia and Idlewild airports. The cost for three passengers therefore comes to only $6 per person).

Air taxi services use the latest types of small aircraft, including Beech Bonanzas, Piper Apaches and Aztecs, and twin-beeches. Many also provide helicopter services.

Among the biggest boosters of the flying taxi service are the scheduled air carriers and travel agencies. Many air taxi operators have ticketing agreements with the airlines who will suggest the service when a passenger requests travel arrangements to an area 50 miles or more away.

Travel agencies see the air taxi as added convenience for vacationers eager to spend as much time "on the spot" and as little time as possible getting to and from their destinations.

Leaning Tower Of Pisa May Some Day Topple

PISA, Italy (UPI) — Some French tourists were celebrating New Year's eve here in 1958 when one of them suddenly thought: "Why don't we straighten the leaning tower of Pisa?"

So they drove to the tower, hooked one end of a steel cable to the base of the structure and the other end to the rear axle of their car.

Then they jumped in the car and stepped on the gas. The car roared across the square — leaving behind its rear axle and a tower that was still leaning.

The tower is one of those things that everybody talks about and a lot of people try to do something about — but nobody ever does.

Recently the talk has been getting more alarming than ever.

Prof. Letterio Donato of the Pisa University engineering school, said the tower may collapse "within our generation."

Prof. Livio Trevisan, a member of the surveillance commission for the leaning tower, said cracks may develop in the ground around the tower at any time, "even immediately."

Geologists at the engineering faculty at Pisa gravely announced that the tower is leaning an additional .0330708 of an inch each year. In the past 44 years, they said, this has added up to a grand total of 1.4551152 inches.

The tower is now some 14 feet out of true.

Actually, what the experts really worried is not so much the rate of lean but the pressure on the ground below the tower.

On the low side, the pressure amounts to 26 pounds per square centimeter. On the high side, it's only one pound, five and one-half ounces per square centimeter.

The experts are afraid that if the pressure is not equalized, the mixture of clay, sand and water below the tower is going to give way some day — and that will be the end.

Bonannus of Pisa started the construction of the in 1174. When it reached the 35-foot level, it started to lean. He gave up right there.

But other men were more stubborn, and kept on building. William of Innsbruck added the last two stories, raising the tower to its present height of 179 feet.

He also tried to correct the lean in the top stories, with the result that the tower now has something of "the shape of a banana," according to Prof. Giuseppe Sampaolesi of the University of Florence.

The tower was completed in 1350 Galileo Galilei, a hometown boy, used the tower for his experiments to prove for the first time that objects of different weights fall at the same speed.

A NET GAIN—Joyce Harriet Bleidner is a pretty catch on the beach at Silver Springs, Fla. Joyce was enjoying the sun after being named "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" at University of Florida, Gainsville.

Park Avenue Now Lined With Office Skyscrapers

By ANTHONY R. SCALZA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Park Avenue, a slum a century ago, then a fashionable boulevard of swank homes, now is lined with office skyscrapers of glistening glass and metal.

And there's at least one man who isn't happy about it.

Pierre Bultinck, whose long service in several of New York's old-name hotels makes him something of an expert on Park Avenue lore, believes the Old World grandeur of the famous street has all but disappeared.

"In its place has come an array of steel, bronze and glass towers, as gleaming and modern as their Victorian predecessors were subdued,' said Bultinck, vice president and general manager of the new Regency Hotel.

Bultnick said the Regency, Park Avenue's first new hotel in over 30 years, is part of the pattern that has put the street through its most recent change—from a purely residential area to the home of many of the nation's most famous industial companies.

Fifteen years ago, Bultinck said there wasn't one business skyscraper on Park Avenue. Today it fairly bristles with them.

But while Park's old look has been slipping away, the new $20 million, 22-story, 500-room Regency, with its facade of muted beige stone, will attempt to restore something of the Old World appeal.

Although modern in concept, the Regency is decorated in the style of the French regency, Old World all the way, said Bultinck.

The office building boom which hit Park Avenue has been a boom which to the hotel industry, well represented on the street. Executives, now able to travel cross-country in several hours, have the convenience of overnight or longer stays at any of the Avenue's famous hotels, said Bultinck.

Few people are aware that just a century ago, Park Avenue was a slum where squatters lived in makeshift wooden shanties among the goat and cattle herds; a swampy stretch so far from the center of old New York that some chroniclers of the era called it: "The End of the World."

Bultinck said Park's history is written in its real estate — and the New York Central Railroad. It has long been recognized as the home of the famous serving for a time as the home-away-from-home of Presidents Cleveland and McKinley, Jay Gould and Diamond Jim Brady.

But it wasn't until 1912 that Park Avenue really began to sprout. In that year, the railroad tracks were covered over and New York's socially prominent set began migrating to Park.

Insurance Policies For Boat Owners

By JACK WOLISTON

Boat owners are becoming more and more aware of the need for protection of their investment against loss by collision, theft or fire. And the insurance industry has moved to meet that need.

Before the post-war boom in pleasure boating, it was difficult to find a company that wrote a policy covering an individually owned small craft. And such a policy provided only limited coverage.

But the rise in boating popularity has made it as simple to buy adequate insurance coverage for small craft as it is to purchase insurance for an automobile.

A typical policy today covers physical damage to the boat, motor and trailer—either separately or together. It may also provide liability protection and medical payment coverages. In some instances, liability and medical coverage is available with home owners' policies for a slight additional premium.

Most boating policies do not cover wear and tear—such as marring, scratching or damage from rot or rust. Neither do they cover boats which carry passengers for hire, are rented to other parties or are used for racing or speed tests.

While full coverage of loss is available, many policies carry deductible clasues ranging up to $100. These, of course, carry smaller premiums. Some companies, in case of total loss, will waive the deductible amount and compensate the owner for the full amount of his loss.

Most companies place limits on the size and type of boats and the horsepower of the motor they will insure. Homemade boats or kits are generally not eligible for insurance but may qualify under certain circumstances.

BAKED FROM THE ORIGINAL 1900 RECIPE

"Copyright, Quality Bakers of America Cooperative, Inc., 1963"

Butterscotch Banana Cookies

1 cup sugar
¾ cup soft butter
1 egg
1¼ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups rolled oats
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels
2 large ripe bananas, finely mashed (1 cup)
1 cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together sugar and butter. Beat in egg. Sift in flour, salt, baking soda and nutmeg. Add remaining ingredients; blend well. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven, (400°F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

YIELD: Approximately 4½ dozen.

Shrimp-In-The-Basket

Watch the young and light hearted tuck away this Shrimp-in-the-Basket in double fast time.

There stands the noble loaf, brown and crusty, hollowed to a shrimp and cheese, with avocado and juicy tomato slices. As it's unwrapped fresh from the oven, it announces its presence with a toasty aroma whiffed with a hint of sharpness. To serve, cut the loaf in great inviting chunks, for either fork or finger eating. Bring it on for lunch, for supper, or for any gay informal doin'. It's happy eating any time.

As for the savory zestiness of flavor—deluxe French dressing blended through the shrimp and toasted crumb filling can take the bow for that. The mild sweetness of the shrimp comes through but with an overtone of frisky flavor bestowed by the dressing. Such an easy way to achieve bright flavor! When urged, reveal the secret, if you wish. Or just smile and offer another helping to the Waiting-Eager One.

Shrimp-in-the Basket

1 ½ pounds frozen, deveined, cleaned shrimp
¼ teaspoon dill weed, crushed
1 loaf French bread
2-3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
½ cup French Dressing
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
6 slices (6 ounces) Swiss cheese
1 small avocado
1 large tomato

Cook shrimp according to package directions, adding dill weed. Drain. Cut a lengthwise slice from top of bread. Remove soft center, crumble and toast under broiler until crisp and lightly browned. Brush cavity of bread with butter or margarine. Combine dressing and mustard. Line cavity with cheese. Combine shrimp (reserving several for garnish), toasted crumbs and dressing mixture. Full the basket. Peel and slice avocado. Cut the tomato in thick slices and each in half. Decorate basket with alternating slices of avocado and tomato and the reserved shrimp. Replace top slice of bread. Wrap in foil. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes or until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: 6 individual Hero rolls or hard French rolls may be substituted for loaf of French bread.

More Meat-Type Hogs

The production of meatier-type hogs is beginning to show results. For every 100 pounds of slaughtered hog in 1951, there was a yield of 14.2 pounds of lard, while in 1961 there were only 12.8 pounds of lard.

Variety Meats For Flavor

Variety meats, such as liver, kidneys, sweetbreads, heart and tongue are important in the diet nutritionally and for the new interest and flavor they introduce into meat meals, often at a saving. Nutritionally, they're important in the diet because of the vitamins and minerals they contain. Liver, especially, is a rich source, not only of iron, but also of the B vitamins and vitamin A.

Cooking of variety meats depends upon the meat selected. Some of the more tender meats—young beef liver, lamb or veal kidneys — may be broiled. Others, such as heart and tongue, are best when braised or cooked in water.

Week's Food Economies

The tender green vegetables we associate with spring are in the markets in steadily increasing supply, in time with the rapid advance of the season, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

Maryland farms are supplying more of the items on the best-buy list, asparagus, spinach, rhubarb and green onions. The warm weather in the past week was favorable to rapid growth in asparagus. The faster the growth the more tender and green is the asparagus. When asparagus is green, it contains Vitamin A, as well as Vitamin C, riboflavin, niacin and iron. The contribution made to the diet by a serving of asparagus is similar to that of green beans. The calorie value is low; six spears equal 20 calories.

Tender green spinach is coming to market in top quality. The small leaves will provide salad greens that have variety and also make a testy hot vegetable. The secret of cooking spinach is to cook it quickly in just the water that clings to the leaves in the final washing. Add seasonings just before serving.

Green onions are low in cost and ideal for spring salads. Florida new potatoes are in liberal supply.

Local rhubarb is in good supply.

Wrapping For Freezing

Meat should be closely wrapped in a moisture-vapor-proof wrapping and tightly sealed for freezing. Steaks, chops, cutlets and patties packaged together should be separated by a layer of the wrapping material.

This is a vegetable that tastes like fruit, with a tart piquant flavor. There are plenty of delicious dishes to be made with rhubarb.

Strawberries from North Carolina are in the markets. Fresh pineapple is in peak season. Plan to make full use of this fruit while the season lasts.

Beef chuck roasts are recommended for a good buy at the meat counter.

Butterscotch-Nut Frosting

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels
1 cup sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup finely chopped nuts
1 cup packaged grated coconut

Combine butterscotch morsels, sugar and evaporated milk in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a full boil, over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Continue to boil, stirring constantly, for 8 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in nuts and coconut. Chill until cool enough to spread.

YIELD: Fills and frosts two 9-inch cake layers.

Serve Smoked Shoulder Butt In Fruit Sauce

Cured and smoked pork suits most everyones taste in meat. Hams, Canadian - style bacon, picnic shoulder and shoulder butt are four cuts commonly flavored this way.

A particularly economical one of this group is the smoked shoulder butt. It's boneless and can be prepared in many different ways.

As a whole piece you could cook it in liquid or roast it. Roasting requires about 35 minutes per pound. Sliced smoked shoulder butt may be broiled, panbroiled or panfried.

For a touch of elegance, you'll enjoy serving this spicy Fruit Sauce Exotica with a whole shoulder butt cooked in liquid.

Smoked Shoulder Butt—Fruit Sauce Exotica

2 to 4-pound smoked shoulder butt
Water to cover
6 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon garlic salt

Cover meat with water. Add cloves, cinnamon, ginger and garlic salt. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours or until meat is done. Remove from liquid. Slice and serve with Fruit Sauce Exotica.

Fruit Sauce Exotica

1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges
1 can (13½ ounces) pineapple chunks
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cardamom, if desired

Drain oranges and pineapple, reserving liquid. Combine cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg and cardamom. Add orange and pineapple liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Fold in oranges and pineapple and heat through. Serve hot with smoked shoulder butt. Yield: 2⅛ cups sauce.

Breakfast Means Brunch In Vacation Time

When something happens to jolt children out of their normal routine of life, some change seems to occur in their eating habits. This was one of the conclusions made in a nationwide study of influences and motives that determine cereal-eating habits of children, 8 through 17 years old. It is mother who must watch. Medical and nutrition authorities have formulated a basic breakfast pattern consisting of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. This meal can be served to an early riser because it provides one-fourth of the day's food requirement for most people; it can be supplemented with other foods, and served to late morning risers and called Brunch. Here is a well-liked cereal main dish:

Toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuits with Creamed Beef

Shredded wheat, 6 oblong biscuits or 6 round biscuits; or 2½ cups spoon-size biscuits, or
2½ cups bite-size biscuits
6 thin sliced fresh tomatoes
1 jar (4-5 ounce) dried, sliced beef, cut
⅛ cup sliced onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2½ cups nonfat milk
Dash of pepper

Dot shredded wheat with butter and place with tomato slices on broiler rack. Broil about 3 inches from heat source until biscuits are toasted and tomatoes heated, 2 to 3 minutes. Keep warm. Saute onion in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Sprinkle flour over onion and mix well. Stir in milk and pepper. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in dried beef (if beef is very salty, rinse under hot water and drain); heat. Top shredded wheat with tomato slices and creamed beef.

Yield: 6 servings.

Swiss Cheese Fondue

1 8-oz. pkg. natural Swiss cheese slices, cut in strips
1 tablespoon flour
1 clove garlic
1 cup dry white wine
Salt and pepper
Dash of nutmeg
2 tablespoons kirsch French or Vienna bread

Toss together cheese and flour. Rub inside of fondue cooker, chafing dish or electric skillet with the cut clove of garlic. Pour in wine, and heat until bubbles rise to the surface. (Never let it boil.) Add cheese mixture—a half a cup at a time—and stir constantly, letting each amount melt completely before adding another. Continue stirring until mixture bubbles lightly. Stir in seasonings and kirsch. Keep the fondue bubbling while serving.

Serve with bite-size chunks of bread with a crusty edge for dunking into the fondue.

If fondue becomes too thick, pour in a little warmed wine. 6 servings.

Molasses-Glazed Chicken Shines At Dinner Party

The dinner party that features an unusual dish on the menu rates cheers from guests. Chicken with Fruit is exotic, delectable—and just the ticket for adding a festive note to the party menu.

This wonderful combination of foods is a Caribbean favorite. It combines chicken, always a sure-fire hit at parties, with fruits — bananas and canned pineapple, for instance, or a combination of your own choosing. Serve the dish, Caribbean style, with hot rice.

The ingredients are cooked in a delicious sweet-tart sauce that owes it indefinable flavor to unsulphured molasses. In addition to the flavor, the unsulphured molasses imparts an appetizing glaze.

Mellow unsulphured molasses is right at home in Caribbean-style cookery, for this type of fancy molasses comes from Barbados and other sunny neighboring islands. Whether it combines with other foods or is eaten for its own sweet sake, unsulphured molasses is a "fancy" product that provides the most pleasant possible flavor.

Chicken with Fruit may be made before company arrives and simply reheated, leaving the hostess maximum time to mingle with her guests.

Chicken With Fruit

2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, sliced
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
1½ cups water, divided
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Ac'cent
¼ teaspoon each ground cloves and allspice
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
2 teaspoons cornstarch
4 canned pineapple slices, halved
4 green tipped bananas, halved

Brown chicken in melted butter in a large skillet. Add onion, mushrooms with liquid, 1¼ cups of the water, lemon juice, seasonings and unsulphured molasses. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Blend cornstarch and remaining ¼ cup water; stir into chicken mixture. Cook until thickened and clear. Add pineapple slices and banana halves; simmer 3 minutes longer.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Minted Lamb On Skewers

3 (3-inch) sprigs fresh mint (or 1 teaspoon dried mint)
½ cup California Burgundy, Claret or other red dinner wine
¼ cup red wine vinegar
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ lbs. boned lamb, in 1-inch cubes

Combine mint (chopped fine, if fresh) with wine, wine vinegar, garlic, salt, pepper. Pour over lamb; marinate 1 hour or more, turning once or twice to coat meat. Drain and save marinade. Thread lamb on skewers. Boil or barbecue, basting often with remaining marinade, until meat is cooked (about 20 minutes).

Swedish Loin Of Pork

3-4 pound pork loin
15-20 prunes
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoon ginger
Dash pepper
¼ cup chopped prunes—for each cup of gravy

Trim excess fat from meat. Rinse prunes; cut in half and remove pits. Cut pockets in meat and insert prunes. This should be done at regular intervals so that a design will show when meat is sliced. Rub surface of meat with salt, ginger and pepper. Tie chops together if necessary with piece of string. Place in roasting pan. Roast uncovered in a slow oven, 325 degrees, for 2 to 2½ hours. Remove roast and make gravy of pan drippings. To each cup of gravy add ¼ cup chopped prunes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Divorce Rate In America Being Tackled

By BOB METCALFE

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan seems to have found a system that could cure much of the United States' divorce ills, says a Californian who has researched 11 countries in the past six months for divorce laws and customs that tend to save marriages.

Jay Burchett, a 47-year-old engineering professor at Pasadena City College, is vice president of United States Divorce Reform Inc. a non-profit organization launched two years ago to tackle America's high divorce rate. (He said it averages about 28 out of every 100 marriages.)

Burchett, on leave from his college at half-pay, ended here his worldwide research into divorce customs and laws,. The tour took him to see judges and government officials in Britain, Germany, Switzerland, Scandinavia and Central Europe.

He intends to write a book and lecture in the United States, hopeful the ideas he has picked up will be adopted by state laws.

Burchett likes Japan's family courts system, he said, because it "tries to save" foundering marriages with case teams of psychiatrists, doctors and priests — and has accountants to divide property when divorce is unavoidable.

As in Britain, judges specialize in divorce and act only on caseworker recommendations.

And the system can function without lawyers. Divorce lawyers would starve in Japan, said Burchett, since the Japanese can get a divorce for as little as a $25 court fee. Grounds here include divorce by consent, though a three-month waiting period is mandatory.

Japan's family court system, set up in 1948 when the Japanese constitution was written, is based largely on studies made around 1900 by Judge Ben B. Lindsay of Chicago.

Japan's divorce rate (69,000 in 1961) is one of the lowest of any country Burchett visited.

"Japan takes a positive approach," said Burchett. "In America we have an adversary system that pits husband against wife for the material things they can salvage from a divorce. It seldom tries to solve the petty differences that often lead to divorce. We destroy, rather than save marriages."

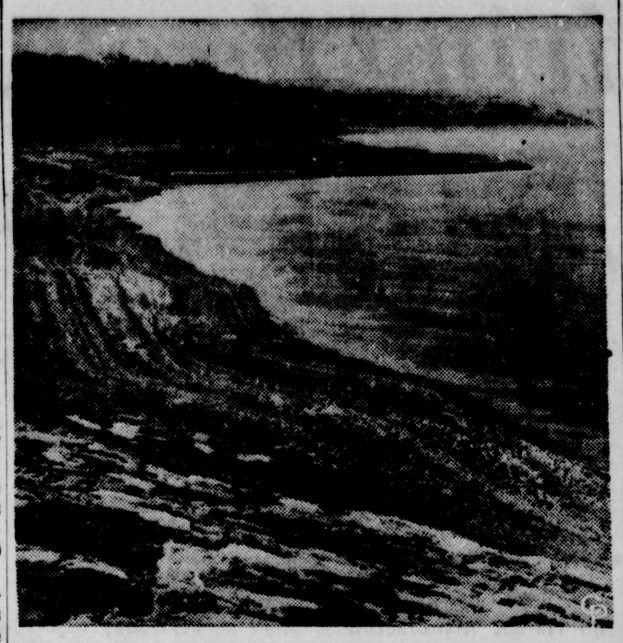

American couples get precious little help from lawyers in solving their problems instead of going ahead with divorce," he said.

"Los Angeles divorce lawyers alone make $20 million a year," he maintained. "Lawyers are paid to liquidate marriages."

Said Burchett, "We want to take divorce out of the world of lawyers and put it into the hands of people specializing in personal relations."

He saw hope in the fact that a family court started in Toledo, Ohio, by Judge Paul Alexander in 1951 had reduced the divorce rate there, and that other U.S. cities were taking notice of the court's operation.

Burchett has a personal interest in divorce law reform. His parents were divorced when he was six. He is divorced, and has custody of his five-year-old son.

LOW WATER LINE REVEALS TROUBLE—The dropping water level at Neversink Dam in the Catskill Mountains bears witness to the continuing drought in the Northeastern states. With reservoirs only 66 percent full, New York City residents may find themselves short on water for next fall. The dry winter has been followed by an almost rainless spring season in the area.

Plans U.S. Visit

PARIS (UPI)—French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will go to Washington late this month for talks on world problems with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, it was announced Tuesday. Couve de Murville will make the visit after the NATO council meeting ends in Ottawa May 24.

Royalty At Mass

LONDON (UPI) — King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium attended Mass at Westminster Cathedral here Wednesday and then took a boat trip on the Thames on the second day of their state visit to Britain.

Automobile Death Rate Highest Ever Since 1941

CHICAGO (UPI)—More than 41,000 persons were killed in auto accidents last year, reports the Journal of American Insurance. One and a half million persons were injured.

The death rate was higher than at any time since 1941, when 39,969 persons died in traffic accidents.

"Ultimately, motorists will pay the price for 1962's shameful road record," the Journal predicts. "Inflated jury awards and other auto insurance cost factors combined with high accident rates press auto insurance rates up."

Insurance payments for auto accidents climbed to a record $3.8 billion last year while economic losses from such accidents totaled more than $8 billion, including lost work time and other costs not fully compensated by insurance payments.

A Free Election For Morocco

National elections for Morocco's first Chamber of Representatives Friday will be held in an atmosphere of crisis. Labor unions have threatened a boycott. As King Hassan II forecast last fall, the campaign has proved a "passionate and difficult test" for the politically immature nation.

Under Morocco's first constitution, promulgated by King Hassan last November and approved in a popular referendum last December 17, Morocco is proclaimed a "democratic social monarchy." The King names the Premier and ministers and presides over Cabinet meetings. No legislation becomes effective without his signature, and if Parliament rejects a bill which he favors, he may refer it for approval to a popular referendum.

The constitution provided for a bicameral Parliament: a 144-member Chamber of Representatives, elected by universal suffrage every four years; and a Chamber of Councilors, elected for six years by professional organizations, regional assemblies and trade unions. The constitution may be amended by a vote in popular referendum, but the institution of the monarchy and the status of Islam as a state religion are not subject to such amendment.

King Hassan thus retains a virtual veto over the work of the Parliament. Morocco's constitution, in fact, bears a striking resemblance to the French constitution through which Gen. Charles de Gaulle has managed to rule with a minimum of interference from the legislative branch. King Hassan and de Gaulle seem to agree that too much representative democracy can be a bad thing.

The Boomlet For Romney

When George Romney, now the Republican Governor of Michigan, was engaged in his battle to put over the compact car for his American Motors Company, he was cordially disliked by the other automobile bigwigs in Detroit. The complaint of high-ranking Ford and General Motors men—leaders in the "club"—was that Romney had knocked their product to build up his own. They thought his talk about "gas guzzling dinosaurs" was hitting below the belt.

This attitude was silly, for Romney, in saving his own automobile company, also did much to refurbish the whole image of Detroit, which was then under concentrated attack from influential Eastern intellectuals who were taking on dreadfully about the vulgarity of tail fins and the juvenility of the "horsepower race." In persuading Detroit to experiment with smaller, less ostentatious cars that cost less both to buy and to operate, Romney proved that American industry is willing to meet criticism in an adult manner.

No doubt some of the "club" still distrust Romney. But the word, in monied circles in the East, has gone out that he is to be forgiven. When Nelson Rockefeller, who had been the front-running Republican Presidential choice of the Eastern "internationalists," compounded the political indiscretion of his own divorce by marrying the divorced Mrs. Happy Murphy, the Romney boomlet for President at once took on new impetus. For some queer reason the Eastern Republicans, heirs to the "center" (sometimes called "me-too") tradition of Wendell Willkie, Tom Dewey and Ike Eisenhower, miss the point that Senator Barry Goldwater's popularity in the South might give them a winner in 1964. So, if Nelson Rockefeller is really on the skids, they feel they must turn to someone like Governor Scranton of Pennsylvania or Governor Romney of Michigan. To date, Romney has shown the highest quotient of charisma, or political sex appeal.

Would Romney disappoint those who are meditating a turn in his direction? Since he is a man who keeps his opinions to himself until he is ready to hit, this question must remain elusive for a while. But his past career has its own eloquence.

The first thing to be said about Romney is that he is a practical evangelist and a very moral man. He has proselytized for his Mormon church, and he carries what he has learned from his missionary work into everything he does. He will take advice; indeed, the campaign to sell the Rambler compacts by knocking the General Motors product as the "dinosaur in the driveway" was sold to him in the first place by others in his company. Beyond this, he is a student who is willing to take the calculated risk of being unorthodox.

When he took over in American Motors, it was an article of faith in Detroit that no automobile company could succeed if it did not sell a "car for every purse." Everybody believed that the old eggs-in-one-basket idea of Henry Ford, who at one time threw everything out of the Ford "line" save the Model T, was a sure guarantee of bankruptcy under modern conditions. But Romney decided that Ford's emphasis-on-one-line was worth another whirl—and so American Motors concentrated on compacts and saved itself from the fate of other automotive "independents."

Romney seems to have conned the career of Henry Ford's old partner, James Couzens, who became a Republican Senator without ever accepting an orthodox Republican label. Romney doesn't talk about Cuba or about the specifics of the Kennedy New Frontier domestic program. But he thinks that politics should be returned to the "people," which means that he doesn't consider that all welfarism should come decked out in a federal dress from Washington. The states and cities should have their place. Romney's feeling about restoring the effectiveness of small units came to the surface when he suggested breaking up General Motors. This would not only increase competition in the automobile business but also break up the "equal and opposite" concentration of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers.

Judging from his past, Romney would make an unorthodox Presidential candidate, one who would be more interested in putting his own impress on things than in building a political party. The "pros" can't like that, but if the "pros" think he can win they might accept him as the Democratic pros of 1912 once accepted Woodrow Wilson.

Racial Problems: It's Later Than We Think

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

According to Attorney General Robert Kennedy and his Justice Department staff, who know more about the matter than any one else, the tragic and horrifying events in Birmingham have a lesson every one needs to understand quite clearly.

The lesson is that in this agonizing area of race relations in the United States it is later than most of us think.

It is later than we think because the extremists on both sides of the question are nearer to taking over than most people suppose. That is what happened in Birmingham on Saturday night and Sunday morning.

White extremists, enraged by a moderate and civilized settlement of Birmingham's segregation crisis, took to bomb-throwing. Negro extremists, incensed by this criminal outrage aimed at the Negro desegregation leaders, responded by rioting. The moderate settlement is now in danger—which is just what was wanted by the white extremists, and maybe by some of the Negro extremists as well.

This outcome was all the more saddening because the settlement in Birmingham represented such a success for foresight and common sense. The extreme explosiveness of the Birmingham race problem had been pinpointed more than 18 months ago, in a Justice Department survey of potential trouble spots in the South which was ordered by Attorney General Kennedy when he first took office.

Leaders of Birmingham's business community were already thinking that something had better be done about the problem. Their impulse seems to have been strengthened by the warning from the Justice Department to key persons in the Birmingham white community and to other persons with leverage in the city like the national executives of chain department stores doing business there, and of the Scripps-Howard and Newhouse organizations which own the city's papers.

The result was a citizens' movement to oust the ultra segregationist city government controlled by Police Commissioner Gene "Bull" Connor. With the help of some Negro votes—for local leaders of the Negro community had already staged a registration drive—the moderate, Albert Boutwell, was elected to the mayoralty.

Even during the mayoralty campaign, the Rev. Martin Luther King wished to intervene. He was only dissuaded from doing so by Attorney General Kennedy on the ground that untimely intervention would adversely affect the election result. Shortly after the voting, however, he began to organize his first demonstrations; and these reached a crescendo ten days ago.

In the resulting crisis, the key episode was the quiet meeting of more than two-score Birmingham business leaders last Wednesday. By then, the chain department stores were already prepared to concede to Negro demonstrators demands for desegregation at lunch counters and other facilities; bu the department stores did not wish to act alone.

Hence the Wednesday meeting was called. At the meeting, more than 40 key personages from the Birmingham white community voted, with only one dissent, in favor of the settlement the Negroes asked for.

Thus everyone who ordinarily matters in white Birmingham had concluded by the middle of last week, no doubt with regret in some cases, but with conviction too, that Birmingham must abandon its old, iron-fisted segregationist habits. "Bull" Connor and the others of his kidney were left in isolation, with the ignorant and the embittered as their remaining supporters.

By the same token, every one who ordinarily matters in Negro Birmingham was overjoyed by the settlement that led the Rev. Martin Luther King to announce the end of his demonstrations. It is not generally understood, but Birmingham's local Negro leaders at the outset had even opposed Martin Luther King's intervention. They had been satisfied by Mayor Boutwell's success at the polls; and they would have preferred to wait quietly for the reforms that Mayor Boutwell promised.

The King intervention was clearly, in some degree, the result of extremist pressure.

The non-violent movement against segregation, which Martin Luther King leads, is feeling increasing competition from Negro groups more or less openly favoring violence, like the so-called Black Muslims. When the settlement was announced, those who attacked it most promptly were Police Commissioner "Bull" Connor and the Washington Black Muslim leader, Malcolm X.

Martin Luther King was wholly satisfied, however, with the settlement that was agreed upon in Birmingham. Once again, he spoke out as a moderate voice. The leaders of the white community were also firmly agreed on the settlement.

Whereupon the extremists on the two sides took over in Birmingham, as they may do later in other places if the warning is not heeded.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WHO SAID WHAT?—When President Kennedy made some remarks in connection with his signing of the measure awarding honorary citizenship to Sir Winston Churchill, one of his most quoted lines was that the war-time British prime minister had "mobilized the English language and sent it into battle."

Kennedy was referring, of course, to the inspired speeches of Churchill who held his island country together almost solely by the force of his oratory in the black days that followed Britain's defeat at Dunkirk. There was his "blood, sweat and tears" speech, and his accolade to the British Air Force: "Never have so many owed so much to so few."

However, as many writers have learned, it's awfully hard to be a phrase-maker. Take Kennedy's quote. Some 15 years ago, Edward R. Murrow was the narrator of a record: "I Can Hear It Now."

Murrow introduced some recorded quotations of Churchill's with these words: "Now the hour had come for him to mobilize the English language and send it into battle, a spearhead of hope for Britain and the world."

It should be noted that Murrow is Kennedy's appointee as director of the U. S. Information Agency.

Nixon May Have Picked Wrong Time To Move Out Of California

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It looks as if Dick Nixon is moving away from California at the wrong time.

Two weeks after his announced decision to move, the political skies have started falling down on California Democrats. It could very definitely swing that key state over to the Republicans in 1964 and could seriously endanger Kennedy's re-election.

What has happened in California politics is that two Democratic leaders have become more ambitious then the governor, both politically and pocketbook-wise. Power seems to have gone to their heads. They are:

No. 1 — Eugene Wyman, Democratic state chairman. Wyman has recently been revealed as attorney for Endo Laboratories in Los Angeles, makers of a drug called Percoda which contains a certain amount of narcotics.

The California legislature recently passed a narcotics control bill, aimed at drastically restricting the use of all narcotics, but containing an amendment which for some reason gave preference to Percoda. After two years of regulation, this amendment would permit Percoda to go off the regulation list.

When this connection between state chairman Wyman and the company manufacturing Percoda was made public by Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Gov. Pat Brown and Attorney General Stanley Mosk issued statements that they knew of no improper action by Wyman. Mosk's office actually appeared in opposition to the Percoda amendment, and both Brown and Mosk are of the type that would not have permitted any skullduggery if they had known about it.

However, Wyman's father-in-law was recently appointed by the governor to the Pharmacy Control Board, and Wyman's wife is on the Los Angeles City Council. Wyman's law firm meanwhile has been expanding until it has become one of the most prosperous in southern California, and some of his clients have business before the City Council of which his wife is a member.

Another Powerful Democrat

No. 2 — Jesse Unruh, the Democratic powerhouse in Sacramento. Unruh is now considered as powerful as Gov. Brown and sometimes shows himself to be more so. As chairman of the California State Legislature's Ways and Means Committee, Unruh can just about decide what bill can pass the legislature. This is partly accomplished through campaign contributions, Unruh being the chief funnel through which contributions are distributed to Democratic legislators.

Gov. Brown is now trying to pass a bill requiring the names of individual campaign contributors to be published, in line with the federal law. But Unruh is opposed and that's that.

Unruh is also opposed to the governor on another important point — night harness racing, now not permitted in California. Gov. Brown believes that racetrack gambling is the cause of anguish, poverty, and embezzlement, and is flatly opposed to additional tracks in California.

Unruh came to Sacramento more or less with patches on his pants, now owns a big house in Los Angeles. He operates an industrial research firm.

Significantly the White House defers to him just about as much as to Gov. Brown. When Unruh wants patronage in Washington he usually gets it.

These are some of the factors that are switching California over to the Republicans and could make Dick Nixon sorry he is leaving his native state at this time.

Alabama Warning

Some of the best friends of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama feared Alabama was heading for race riots and three months ago warned Wallace to climb down from his fiery segregationist stand. Among them were the Montgomery Advertiser and the Anniston Star, both Wallace supporters.

"The state of Alabama and its governor are going to sorrow unless the governor makes it clear there isn't going to be any violence or mob rule," wrote the Montgomery Advertiser. "The Advertiser is distressed to have to say that the governor has evaded any opportunities to make himself plain on violence. He has evaded his duty."

"The consensus of the governor's friends very definitely is that he should stay within the law and he will have to help in that regard," said Col. Harry Ayers editorially in the Anniston Star. "It is . . . entirely foolhardy to embark on a course that can lead only to grief and defeat."

Though Gov. Wallace told this writer, well in advance of the trouble in Birmingham, that he did not want to turn Alabama into another Mississippi, he persistently stated that he would "draw a line in the dust" beyond which integrationists could not pass and would "stand in the door to block the entry of federal troops or federal marshals or anyone else. They will have to arrest me."

Many interpreted this as meaning that if the governor resisted, others could follow his example with impunity.

Spankings In School

Rep. Mel Price, D-Ill., told a group of colleagues having coffee in the House cafeteria the other morning: "We're going to vote today on that bill to enable teachers to paddle kids in the D.C. schools."

"I'll bet the younger generation will have an eye on the roll call," commented Rep. Frank Karsten, D-Mo.

"I can vote without any conflict of interest," expansively declared Rep. William T. Murphy, a Chicago Democrat. "I was never paddled in school."

"Maybe that's why we should all vote for this bill," chuckled Rep. John Kyl, the Iowa Republican.

Note — Sonny Liston, world champion heavyweight, speaking in Washington at a Big Brothers dinner, came out emphatically for school spankings, though many Negro leaders in Washington are opposed.

Walking Properly Solves Many Foot Problems

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Painful feet can ruin the disposition. The causes vary from ordinary foot strain to plantar warts, and the only way to find out is through an examination. Arch supports or surgery may be needed but new shoes or learning how to walk properly may solve the problem.

Foot strain is a good possibility when the feet ache and feel tired after being up and about. Pain may extend into the calf or knee, and the victim limps at times. Removing the shoes, massaging the feet, and rest usually bring relief. Strain comes from walking improperly of from weakness of the arches. In many instnces, telltale calluses, plantar warts, or corns have developed, indicating unnatural pressure on the foot or toes.

A simple test often determines whether strain stems from bearing the weight of the body on the wrong parts of the foot. The lower extermities are viewed from the rear. When a plumb line is dropped from the middle of the knee it should fall straight through the ankle joint. Achilles tendon, and the heel. The line is likely to fall toward the inner side of the heel when flat foot is present. These individuals usually walk on the inner side of the sole with the foot turned out.

Proper shoes, with built-in arch supports, are most helpful from distortion of the weight-bearing line. The inner border of the heel may be raised a fraction of an inch to encourage better alignment.

It is important to learn to walk properly. Start by standing tall, with the head up, and shoulders back. Step forward with the toes pointing straight ahead and land on the heel. Then shift the weight of the body to the outer aspect of the foot and rotate to the ball and propel yourself forward with a springlike action from the toes.

Additional treatment will be needed if there are painful calluses, plantar warts, corns, bunions, or infected toes. A painful nerve tumor between the metatarsal bones (Morton's neuroma) is found occasionally. This is one of the most painful of all foot disorders and curt often requires surgery.

KIDNEY TRANSPLANTS

V.H. writes: Are transplanted kidneys ever successful?

REPLY

Yes, but a transplanted organ—like blood—must be compatible, or it is rejected by the body. We have no way of typing an organ as we do blood. The chance of success is best when the kidney is needed by one of identical twins because there is a good possibility that the organs are compatible.

WEAK MUSCLES

J.R. writes: Is myasthenia gravis inherited?

REPLY

No. This is the condition in which the muscles become extremely fatigued after they are used a short time. The eyelids, for example, begin to droop and the individual cannot see until the muscles of the lids regain their strength.

X-RAY SHOWS ULCER

F.H. writes: Do X-rays always show up ulcer? I get spells of severe burning and pain in the stomach. The doctor says X-rays give no evidence of ulcer.

REPLY

Not always, but few ulcers escape the experienced eye of a good X-ray specialist.

PRESSURE WELTS

S.M.P. writes: I am subject to welts when my skin is pressed upon. Would skin tests show what I'm allergic to?

REPLY

Probably not, because pressure in itself can cause these lesions.

ARTHRITIS NOT MALIGNANT

M. K. writes: Is it true that arthritis is really cancer of the bone?

REPLY

No; there is no relationship between the two.

HANDS GO TO SLEEP

H. W. writes: My hands go to sleep before I do. Is there any way to keep them awake?

REPLY

Be thankful they don't snore. You have pressure somewhere on the nerves leading to the arms. A thorough examination may be needed if changing your sleeping position does not help.

HERPES ZOSTER

E. G. writes: Could arthritis of the spine or strain of the back, bones, and ligaments lead to an attack of shingles?

REPLY

No. Shingles is a viral infection of the nerve endings in the skin.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

On Monday, a gangling college undergraduate landed a summer job with a big company. On Tuesday, he reported for work at 10:15. "You should have been here at nine," the superintendent reproved him. "Why?" asked the undergraduate. "What happened?"

Miss Rosebud Hopkinson, from the Hopkinson plantation in Louisiana, was brought by her mother to New York at the age of seventeen for her very first look at a Northern metropolis. Standing in line for admission to the Radio City Music Hall, Miss Rosebud heard two young men ahead of her conversing in Italian in very animated fashion. "Dawgone," whispered Miss Rosebud to her mother, "Ah cain't make out one word these Yankees say!"

It's tough work making our younger generation laugh out loud, claims Comedian Sid Caesar, who ought to know. "Our kids today," he says, "think they're not 'in' if they laugh in public, or cry, or even applaud. The only way you can tell they get the point of a joke is they sit there snapping their fingers. This means you've really broken them up!"

Subsidies, Yet

By John Crosby

PARIS

An American mother I know who has had a brood of five children opened her door one day to find a French functionary standing there with a suitcase full of money. He peeled off 541 francs, which is a bit better than $100, and said "Voila!" which is what the French say on most occasions. The mother, somewhat stunned by this beneficence, said: "Pourquoi?" The French functionary said: "Pour les enfants."

It was her first monthly installment of the French bonus for children, which applies to Americans living here, provided they are on a French payroll, as well as to the French. In an attempt to boost their stagnant birth rate — and it's worked very well — the French pay a bonus to families with children and it goes steeply up, the more children you have. The French income tax deduction for children is graduated steeply, too, so that you can deduct a good deal more for the fifth child than for the first one.

"He's paying me for what I've done all my life for nothing — having children," exclaimed the mother happily.

A marvelously French idea. Actually, a Frenchman with five children and a moderate income will get more money back from the government than he pays in taxes. That has boosted the French population by seven million since World War II. Mothers also get a pregnancy allowance and the French government kicks back from 65 to 80 per cent of their medical expenses, doctors' bills and all.

(Ah, there, American Medical Association. Come on over! You'd loathe it here.)

As a member of Planned Parenthood, I shouldn't look kindly on these dodges to make more babies. But actually the French need more babies where the Indians and the Chinese don't.

The French are getting enormously polite to French fathers as well as to French mothers since, after all, the father's cooperation is essential in the production of French babies. A father of two can carry around a card which will give him priorities on the subways and buses. Theoretically, old ladies will leap to their feet and give him their seats.

Papa gets a discount on the railroads and, if he has five or six children, a 10 per cent discount in department stores. He also gets three days off from work before he has the baby and three days off to recover from his hangover afterwards.

I explained to a French friend that we don't have anything like this in America. Mothers and fathers are expected to support their own children. Pay their own medical bills. Anything else is socialistic nonsense.

"No medical care? No maternity allowance?" said the Frenchman. "What does the taxpayer get for his money in America?"

Well, I explained, we taxpayers get a great deal for our money. We found out that the far side of Venus was just as hot as the near side, didn't we? It cost billions.

"You really wanted to find out how hot Venus is on both sides that badly?" said the Frenchman. "You Americans are a funny race. What else are you getting for your tax dollar?"

"Well, we're going to land a man on the moon maybe in 1970. We'll have enough hydrogen bombs to wipe out the human race 25 times over instead of only three times over as we have now. And what will you Frenchmen have for it, for your tax money? Nothing but a lot of well-fed children. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

"Well, don't underestimate Gen. de Gaulle," said the Frenchman. "He's threatened to spend up to 50 per cent of the French income to build a force de frappe. In time, we may stop wasting all that money feeding children and spend it on something useful like hydrogen bombs, just like you Americans."

How does "Miss Teen" rate in charm? Here is a quick quiz she can take to find her rating!

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Table Ways

You teenagers are older than you think. In no time at all you are going to be starting on business careers or going away to college, and some of you will be taking on matrimonial responsibilities.

Much of the success you are going to achieve is determined by what you are and do today.

For instance, are you acquiring smooth manners and ways? Answer that yourself, just by taking the little test that follows. See how you rate on these table ways:

Are you guilty of:

1. Bringing your mouth to your food instead of your food to your mouth?
2. "Fisting" a fork?
3. Dangling a knife or fork against the edge of your plate instead of resting it neatly across the upper section so that only the handles extend over the rim?
4. Taking several sips of ice cream from the same spoonful instead of just one?
5. Spraying the table with crumbs . . . or, if you smoke, with ashes?
6. Toying with silverware not in use?
7. Fussing with hair or doing a full paint job?
8. Lounging on the table?
9. Gesturing with food in your hands?
10. Attacks of giggles, noisy or argumentative exchanges?
11. Leaving lipstick on glasses or napkins?

If you want to be the most popular charmer in your class, the young lady who is most likely to succeed in her chosen career, vow now that you'll start leading the class in manners. Once good manners are second nature to you, you'll be free to devote all your time and thought to other things . . . while the laggards will be stumbling and floundering trying to improve theirs!

Sen. George Snyder Changes His Mind

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Sen. George E. Snyder, D-Wash., said Tuesday he has withdrawn as candidate for the Hagerstown postmastership.

Snyder was recommended last week by the Democratic State Central Committee to be acting postmaster. He said, however, that he was convinced "there is a public desire for me to stay in elective office."

About 10 candidates remain for the job, including Hagerstown Mayor Winslow Burhan, Snyder asked the state central committee to hold open competitive examinations for the pros.

Finan Is Catholic Honoree For Brotherhood Event

Thomas B. Finan Jr., Cumberland attorney and attorney general of Maryland, has been named the Catholic honoree for the Brotherhood Week Dinner to be held on Monday, May 27, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club at 6:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, William Walsh and Milton Bernstein, co-chairmen of the affair, announced.

Over 600 invitations have already been mailed for the dinner, at which Lewis J. Ort will be recognized as the Protestant honoree. The Jewish representative will be named in the near future, Senator Beall said. John H. Mosner, treasurer, has urged that reservations be made early.

Finan was born in Cumberland, June 30, 1914. He was educated at St. Patrick's Parochial School, LaSalle High School, Georgetown University (A. B., 1936), and the University of Maryland School of Law (LL. B., 1939).

Since 1939 he has practiced law in Cumberland, except during his military service (1941-45). He entered the Army as a private and was discharged as a captain, decorated with the Legion of Merit after service in the European theatre and several months spent as a prisoner of war. He is now a major in the Army Reserve.

Finan served three terms as city solicitor of Cumberland (1948-50, 1952-59) From 1954 to 1959, he was chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County and in August of 1959, he became statewide chairman. He represented Maryland at the Democratic National Conventions of 1956 and 1960.

Finan served as secretary of state of Maryland from January 1959 to January 1961, when Governor Tawes appointed him attorney general to fill the unexpired term of C. Ferdinand Sybert, who resigned to accept an appointment to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Finan married the former Isabel Jean North of Cambridge in 1941 and has two children. He is chairman of the board of Sacred Heart Hospital, and a director of the First-Second National Bank and Trust Company and of Memorial Hospital; vice president of The Times and Alleganian- Company and maintains law offices in Cumberland.

Women Like Stamps

NEW YORK (UPI) — Trading stamps mean more to women than just the things they get for them, a noted psychiatrist says. Dr. Louis R. Hott, medical director of Karen Horney Clinic, says trading stamps play an important role in women's lives.

"Many housewives need some external recognition of achievement which may accentuate their homemaking skills," Dr. Hott said. "Saving for items through redemption of gifts fulfills this particular need."

ABL'ers May Get Benefits

A representative of the West Virginia Department of Employment Security will visit Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, May 29, to take claims from temporarily-furloughed employes of Hercules Powder Company who wish to file for unemployment benefits.

The visit had been scheduled for Friday, but was changed to May 29. Besides taking claims from employes who are in a temporarily-furloughed status, the representatives will also answer any questions they might have concerning their eligibility for unemployment benefits.

Those employes who have been permanently reduced in force should make applications for unemployment benefits at the Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security or at the office nearest their residences, it was announced.

Man Is Held In Auto Theft

A 20-year-old Baltimore man is in the Hampshire County Jail, Romney, awaiting authorities to return him to the Maryland city to face charges of auto theft.

Sgt. B. L. Burner, of the Romney detachment of West Virginia State Police, said Ronald Lee Gosnay was arrested Sunday afternoon following a hair-raising chase on Route 50 and a crash in Romney.

The series of events started Sunday morning when Gosnay stopped the auto he was driving at the Henderson Service Station on Loon Mountain 18 miles east of Romney on U. S. Route 50.

Driving away without paying for the gas, he was chased by Sgt. Burner who was called by the station attendant.

In Romney, Gosnay attempted to turn off Route 50 at the New Century Hotel and rammed into the fence of the Susan Brady home.

Two girls, 15 and 16 years of age, who were with him, were apprehended, but Gosnay managed to flee. Later in the day, however, he was arrested by Romney Chief of Police Luther Hutter.

The girls were released Tuesday when they were picked up by their parents.

Police discovered after the wreck that the car had been stolen in Baltimore. A federal charge of interstate transportation of a stolen auto may be filed, authorities said.

The bidding:

| Double | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Six of ♣

Declarer's failure in today's hand resulted from his not being aware early in the play as to which diamond honor he was trying to locate.

South's two spade overcall of his opponent's opening one no trump bid is a calculated risk which is warranted by his distributional holding. A pass would run the risk of being shut out altogether and a chance to score might well be lost. When North jumped directly to game, East doubled.

West opened the six of clubs. East put up the ace of clubs and continued with the queen which declarer ruffed. It appeared to South that the diamond suit was more readily establishable than hearts, so at trick two he led a small diamond and finessed North's queen. East was in with the king and another round of clubs reduced declarer to only three trumps.

South decided that it was about time to draw trumps and, in order to avoid a further force on his own spades, he first cashed the ace of hearts and discarded North's last club. The king of spades was led which East took and exited with a spade. Fortunately for declarer, the adverse trumps divided evenly.

A diamond was led over to the ace and the ten of diamonds was returned. East played low and the moment of decision had come. South finally elected to play for an even split in diamonds, and he used his last spade to trump the trick. When West showed out, East could not be prevented from making good his jack of diamonds for the setting trick.

Declarer had subjected himself to an unnecessary guess in the diamond suit, and his real mistake had been committed early in the hand. When the diamond finesse is taken at trick two, South should play the ten of diamonds from dummy and not the queen. East is for certain marked with the king of diamonds from his conduct during the auction. The deep finesse in the suit will therefore locate the jack without subjecting declarer to any loss. When the finesse does lose to the jack, South can, after cashing the ace of diamonds, take a ruffing finesse thru East's king to establish the suit. He loses only one trick each in spades, diamonds, and clubs.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you in the hope a close friend of mine will see my letter. To put it realistically. I should say I hope someone will see it and call it to her attention. This is the problem—she doesn't see a darned thing but she's too vain to wear glasses.

The woman is in her late 40's, very good-looking, and could easily pass for 35, if she didn't have deep furrows in her forehead and crow's feet around her eyes, which, of course, are the result of years of squinting.

She also has a reputation as a snob which is undeserved. The woman passes up people on the street right and left because she doesn't see them.

Please, Ann, a few lines in your column may encourage these foolish people to get the help they need. Thank you.

—MRS. 20-20 WITH GLASSES

Dear 20-20: Here is the letter. I hope someone reads it to your friend. Glasses these days are so smart, many a girl has faked myopia.

Well-designed specs often add to a person's appearance. And incidentally, some aging matrons look years younger in glasses because the frames hide the pouches under the eyes. And for those who have an aversion to glasses, there are contact lenses.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 18 years old and I have been married for two months. My husband lost his job the same week we were married. I took on a night job in addition to my 8-hour day shift because we owe on a car, appliances, furniture, clothing and he was up to his neck in debt before we married.

I get only four or five hours sleep at night and when I'm awake I'm on the go every minute. I believe my husband is really trying to find work but things are tough in this town and he hasn't had any luck.

I'm not complaining about his unemployment, but rather that he refuses to do anything around the apartment to help me. He won't shop for groceries or straighten up the place or even start supper. When I get home exhausted, I have to cook, clean and do the washing and ironing. If I'm expecting too much from him please let me know. I will take your advice.— HANDS FULL

Dear Full: Eighteen years old, married two months and off to a lousy start. You could have waited a while for this deal.

That husband of yours should be helping straighten the apartment, he should be doing the marketing, the cooking and anything else which might make your life easier. Any woman who has proven her willingness to go the extra mile, as you have, deserves all the help she can get.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago my husband and I entertained a couple in our home. When they left, the woman said, "We had a lovely time. And now you must come to see US sometime."

My husband has been nagging me ever since to go visit these people. I keep telling him we'll go when we get an invitation. He

B&O Changes Time Schedule On Some Trains

Passenger train schedules have been changed between Cumberland and Cincinnati-St. Louis due to tunnel enlargement work during the next several months on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The changes effective this week apply to Nos. 1 and 2, the National Limited; Nos. 11 and 12, the Metropolitan Special, and Nos. 23 and 30.

Two of the trains, the National Limited and the Metropolitan are re-routed from Clarksburg through Benwood and back to the main line at Parkersburg over what is known as the "Short Line."

No. 1 will leave Washington at 4:25 p. m. instead of 7 p. m. and depart from Cumberland at 7:30 p. m. instead of 10:10 p. m. All times listed are Daylight Time.

No. 11 will leave Cumberland for the west at 9:10 a. m. instead of 12:10 p. m.

No. 23, which is made up at Cumberland, will leave its Cumberland - Washington counterpart, No. 7, leaving the nation's capital at 11:10 p. m. and will depart from here for Clarksburg at 2:45 a. m.

At Clarksburg, a bus will leave at 8 a. m. for Parkersburg, traveling through Salem, West Union, Pennsboro and Ellenboro, arriving at Parkersburg at 10:40 a. m.

There a passenger train will leave for Cincinnati at 11 a. m. arriving there at 2 p. m.

The eastbound No. 2 will leave Cincinnati as before at 10:45 p. m. and arrive at Keyser at 7:22 a. m. instead of 4:27 a. m. and at Cumberland at 7:55 a. m. instead of 5 a. m.

Departing here at 8 a. m., instead of the former 5:05 a. m. the National Limited arrives in Washington at 11:10 a. m. instead of 10:15 a. m. and in Baltimore at 12:10 p. m. instead of 9:15 a. m.

The eastbound Metropolitan Special arrives in Keyser at 10:22 p. m. instead of 7:27 p. m. and gets to Cumberland at 10:55 p. m. instead of 8 p. m.

Leaving here at 11 p. m., No. 12 instead of 8:05 p. m., No. 12 will arrive in Washington at 2:20 a. m. instead of 11:25 p. m.

No. 30 will depart from Cincinnati enroute to Parkersburg at 10:15 p. m., arriving at Parkersburg at 4:20 a. m. A bus will leave there at 7:20 a. m. and arrive in Clarksburg at 7:20 a. m.

It will then leave Clarksburg at 8:20 a. m. and arrive in Keyser at 12:15 p. m., and in Cumberland at 12:50 p. m. instead of 11:05 a. m.

No. 30 has a connection to the east with No. 8 which leaves here at 2 p. m. for Washington.

Gun Show Sunday At Clarysville Inn

A tri-state area display of antique and modern firearms will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26 at Clarysville Inn on U. S. Route 40, west of Cumberland with the first annual Gun Show and Display.

The show will be sponsored by the Frostburg Junior Association of Commerce in cooperation with Twolick (Pa.) Valley Gun Collectors.

Fred Jenkins, general chairman for the two-day show, said the exhibit is being held to give gun and coin collectors of the area a chance to display, buy or sell their private collections and to present area residents with an opportunity to view many top-notch collections.

Several members of Frostburg Jaycees decided to stage the exhibit, he said, after traveling to Pennsylvania to see the same show in February when more than 100 tables were filled with gun exhibits.

Jenkins said the show at Clarysville is expected to fill at least that many tables by out-of-town exhibiting members of the Twolick Valley Gun Collectors organization and that more than 20 tables are being reserved for area collectors, either private or club, who desire to participate.

He said those interested in entering displays can make reservations on a first-come, first-served basis by telephoning him at OV 9-9794 or Jaycees president James E. Kelly Jr., OV 9-6821.

The chairman added that collectors of coins, stamps, gun parts, accessories, ammunition or "anything old," will be welcomed.

The exhibit will begin May 25 at 8 a. m. and run to 10 p. m., while the May 26 show is scheduled from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Some invitations have been mailed out to area clubs, but Jenkins said many collectors might have inadvertently been missed.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Dear Friends:

FREEDOM! OR BIG GOVERNMENT—Down through the ages, noble people have fought and died for freedow. The history of America is the history of a fight for this ideal. How well is this generation preserving the American heritage of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"? When the people accept the responsibility for their own welfare, they are free; when that responsibility is turned over to the Government, they are not. When the people control their Government, they are free; when the Government controls the people, the people are slaves.

John Philpot Curran said: "The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition if he break, servitude is at once the consequence of his crime and the punishment of his guilt."

Herbert Spencer said: "If men use their liberty in such a way as to surrender their liberty, are they therefore any the less slaves?"

Francis Hurst said: "Private property, free competition, the right to make profit, the right to save and to employ your savings—the reward of skill and thrift—as you like, are all the rights of a free citizen in a free state."

Edmund Burke said: "The people never give up their liberties but under some delusion."

Thomas Jefferson said: "That government is best which governs least."

WHY ONE GREAT NATION FELL—One of the most widely read books of all time is "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Written in 1788 by Edward Gibbon, it sets forth five basic reasons why that great civilization withered and died:

(1) The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society;

(2) Higher and higher taxes, and the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace;

(3) The mad craze for pleasure—sports becoming more exciting, more brutal, more immoral;

(4) The building of great armaments while the real enemy was within: the decay of individual responsibility; and

(5) The decay of religion—faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, losing power to guide the people.

THE ENEMY IS ACTIVE IN OUR COLLEGES — Under the guise of academic freedom, free speech and civil rights, we are permitting our youth to be exposed, during their emotional years, to the most insidious and clever type of Communist propaganda. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, in his 1962 annual report, giving considerable attention to the aggressive campaign of the Communist Party USA, stated:

"Most successful of all its efforts was its speaking campaign, especially before college groups. From late October, 1961, through May, 1962, leaders of the Communist Party USA made 48 speeches before groups of college students all across the Nation. Approximately 43,000 persons heard these talks. Encouraged by the early success of college appearances, the party established a lecture and information bureau and early in 1962 sent a letter to college newspaper editors offering speakers on Communism. Near the end of the 1962 fiscal year, the party already was lining up speeches for the coming academic year."

HAND-OUTS DISASTROUSLY DAMAGING — The promise of "something for nothing" from the Federal government can do permanent and disastrous damage to the economy of the nation, says Roger M. Blough, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation. "If the Government does for its citizens the things that they can and should do for themselves, then the American people will become dependent and weak," he told the recent meeting of the Iowa Medical Society. "If Government continues to support ever-increasing numbers of people," he said, "the day must inevitably come when our people can no longer support the Government." He said the nation could prosper only to the extent that voluntary, productive groups and individual Americans prosper and grow.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare reports that last year the cost of relief came to $4,100,000,000, in Federal, State, and local funds. The number of persons on public welfare rolls came to a total of 6,700,000, the highest number on relief since Federal "emergency" relief was ADD THURS—Senate CLOAkroom started back in 1933.

"FEDERAL MONEY" SPENT IN THE STATES—Recently there was some boasting about all the money the Federal government spent in local communities in all the States last year: $844,000,000 for farm conservation and surplus disposal, $284,000,000 for public housing, $697,000,000 for Army-Engineer projects, $2,590,000,000 for highways, $2,167,000,000 for relief, $160,000,000 for hospital construction, and so on. Some of these are good causes, of course. However, if the money sent to Washington in such quantity for local projects were kept at home, local people could finance a lot of hospitals, airports, bridges and sewer systems—if they chose to do so. But it's hard to get off the merry-go-round. Because the Federal government took their money, the local people pressure their representatives in Washington to get it back. And because the Federal government already has plans for every dollar already collected and more besides, new projects require deeper deficits, higher Federal taxes more local resistance and more appeals to Washington. The more "Federal Aid" handed out, the greater the net loss to the taxpayers. Marylanders pay $1.53 for each $1 they receive in "Federal Aid." I am convinced that the people of America would find themselves better off if the Federal government could stop financing local projects and programs.

Enemy Only Of Candy

RED BANK, N.J. (AP)—Children's teeth today are no better than those of children 65 years ago and "as long as they eat the wrong food — candy and soda pop — they are not going to be any better," says Dr. Herbert Ely.

Ely is a 91-year-old dentist who has been practicing for 65 years and expects to continue to work as long as he can. Among the mementos he has is an award from a patient inscribed: "This is not for what you have done, it is for what you haven't done. You have never made an enemy."

Crackling In The North

COLLEGE, Alaska (AP) — Are the Northern Lights noisy?

Gene Westcott of the Geophysical Institute, University of Alaska, has a $22,800 National Science Foundation grant to try and find out this winter.

Tales persist in Alaska that during cold, quiet winter nights the brilliant sky displays can be heard as crackling or rushing sounds.

Westcott has acquired what he called a high quality condensor microphone, mounted with a parabolic reflector, to point to the skies.

He will try to catch the elusive sounds on tape—if there are any.

Heated Castle

CARLISLE, England (AP) — School boys have discovered a 1,600-year-old Roman castle that seems to have been centrally heated.

The boys found pieces of box tiles used in the construction of heating flues.

The diggings brought to light several important parts of the castle, including a gateway complete with cobbled entrance, and domestic utensils.

CORRECTION: ABOUT THE EXPENSIVE CHALET IN GENEVA—The Embassy of India has contacted me to say that the expensive chalet in Geneva, referred to in a recent issue of "Senate Cloakroom," was not purchased by the Government of India, but rather by "private Indian parties for their own business purposes." We are glad to make this correction.

CIVIL DEFENSE HOSPITAL AND 30-DAY SUPPLY—Chalk up another "first" for Maryland! A 200-bed Civil Defense Emergency Hospital on the grounds of the Boonsboro High School, Washington County, fully stocked with a 30-day supply of food and medicines, is the first such hospital in the United States. With these supplies, carefully and conveniently stored, the hospital would be able to operate for 30 days without outside help, in the event of an emergency caused by enemy attack or natural disaster.

A PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENT—When an office-holder in Washington died, back in 1917, a perennial office seeker hurried to the White House to tell President Woodrow Wilson that he'd like to "take the deceased's place." President Wilson answered, "If it's alright with the undertaker, it's alright with me."

Sincerely yours,
J. GLENN BEALL

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

On May 21 there is going to be an election in the United States. It's an election that will affect you whether or not you have an opportunity to cast a ballot. I am referring, of course, to the wheat referendum which will be held by the Agriculture Department on May 21.

Everyone with a direct pecuniary interest in the wheat crop is entitled to vote. Tenants, landlords, wives, as well as husbands, if their names are on the deeds to a property which is the source of a wheat crop. All of those who are directly interested may express their opinion in this vitally important referendum.

The 1964 wheat referendum will affect all Americans because it involves a basic issue. The question is whether or not the farms of America are going to be managed by the people who own and operate them or whether the basic policies for our agricultural community are going to be set in Washington. This referendum is limited to the question of the future of the wheat growers of America and therefore only the wheat producers will vote. But I believe that the result of this referendum will be reflected in agricultural policy for years to come and therefore it will affect all Americans. The result will not only touch the lives of farmers, but it will touch the pockets of the taxpayers who must provide the money for expensive agricultural programs. It will influence consumer prices which housewives must pay when they go to the grocery store to buy farm products. It will be reflected in our relations with other countries. It will unquestionably be a factor in the direction of government policy toward non-farm groups because the question to be answered is whether or not we are going to continue to enmesh ourselves in a program of subsidy and control.

Wheat producers in the past have voted in these referendums or similar referendums in a humdrum way for several years. This year there are some differences which the public should recognize. In the first place everyone who has an interest in the wheat crop may vote. This will include for the first time those wheat farmers who grow 15 acres or less. There is one important qualification. The 15 acre farmer must register one week in advance of the May 21 referendum.

A further fact of great importance to East Coast farmers is the wheat plan itself which could affect your agricultural operation. If you have been raising wheat in the past primarily for silage, pasture, or straw, or for some other non-grain purpose you have been entitled to certain exemptions. If this referendum is approved and the plan goes into operation you will find that any wheat raised on your farm for any purpose is covered by the controls to be imposed by the wheat program. This will make a great difference to many Maryland dairy farmers, poultrymen, and general farmers.

If farmers are interested in being able to plan their own farm operation in the future they will vote "no" on this referendum. All farmers throughout America who are interested in preserving their own initiative and their own ability to operate a free enterprise farming community will vote "no" on this referendum. I hope that they do so because they hold in their hands a very important key to the future of American economic philosophy.

'Whirlybird' Stork

TRENTO, Italy (AP)—A new born baby and his mother had to get from the hospital in this Alpine city to their home in a village further up in the mountains. But the village was snowbound.

Hospital aides solved the problem neatly. They bundled the mother and the eight-day-old baby aboard a helicopter. Minutes later the chopper touched down softly on the snow outside their home.

Stocks, Like Astronaut, Finally Get Off Ground

NEW YORK (UPI)—Like astronaut Gordon Cooper, stocks finally got off the ground Wednesday after two days of anxiety and false starts.

The market countdown began shortly after the opening as stocks began by creeping forward on a slight pickup in volume. With brokers apparently satisfied that certain business uncertainties had been swept out of the business horizon, the market got its "A-OK go" shortly after 2 p.m.

The send-off began on a burst of volume that sent high-speed tickers several minutes behind floor transactions. Blue chips featured the late rise.

Dow-Jones industrials closed up 4.50 to a new 15-month high of 724.35—only 10.57 from the all-time peak. This is the best for this average since it closed at 726.01 on Jan. 3, 1961.

Trading totaled 5,650,000 shares. This was 910,000 over the previous session and the heaviest since 5,905,000 traded on April 24.

Of the 1,344 issues traded, 646 advance and 419 declined—137 to new 1963 highs and only 8 to new lows.

Rails outperformed the general market for the second consecutive session. Strength in this group was triggered by a presidential emergency board report saying "considerable progress" has been made in its efforts to mediate a settlement between management and unions of the long standing work rules dispute.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Caught in the throes of evening up activity, old May wheat rallied more than 4 cents from early lows Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade, but late selling held closing prices at firm levels.

Soybeans and new crop wheat closed weak to heavy, corn strong and other grain futures ranged steady to firm.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅜ to up ⅞; corn up ⅝ to 1⅜; oats unchanged to up ¼; rye off ⅛ to up ⅜; soybeans off ⅞ to 1⅛; and drummed lard unchanged.

Word of rains over parts of the wheat belt and weak spot prices at Kansas City also attracted selling to May wheat. Short covering around mid - morning boosted prices 2¼ cents a bushel above Tuesday night's close.

New crop wheat remained lower on the moisture reports and disappointment over news that Japan bought a large amount of soft wheat from Canada and Australia. Traders appeared generally hesitant to buy before the outcome of the May 21 wheat referendum is known.

Corn strengthened on reports from Iowa that bin site offerings have been restricted. It was reported that Austria bought 680,000 bushels of corn, Greece 600,000 bushels, and Italy 320,000 bushels.

Oats steadied in featurless trade. Rye prices firmed with that grain market.

Slow export trade, prospects that soybean crushing will be smaller for April than a year ago and improved weather attracted selling to soybeans and its products.

Outside markets were mixed.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — One of the best kept secrets in Hollywood is that for months Jack Warner has been writing his autobiography. In collaboration with Dean Jennings, well-known national magazine writer who has worked on the books of many famous show business personalities, Jack is authoring his own story.

It should be a honey, because Jack has always been one of the most colorful figures behind the scenes of Hollywood. He's also a great ad lib artist who can kid himself as well as others. Jack Benny has always said Jack is a frustrated comedian.

But there's much in his life which will be on the serious side for the way he and his three brothers built Warner Bros. film company into one of the powers of the industry. The Warners pioneered sound when most other producers thought they were collectively crazy in the head.

Ava Gardner, who has sown an almost phobic fear of the press and especially of photographers in recent years, bowled them over in London when she arrived from the continent.

At the London Airport she boldly walked out through the regular entrance and pleasantly announced that she was in England for a holiday. She then proceeded to pose for photographers and was gracious and cooperative in answering questions. The London reporters, who expected to get the snub she has been giving to newspaper people, were left with their mouths hanging open.

No doubt about it, Ava who saw no one when she was in Hollywood, has plenty of room for improvement.

We have a new actor in our midst — 12-year-old Eddie Albert Jr., son of Margo and Eddie. He starts work almost immediately at Knoxville, Tenn., in "The Fool Killer," adapted for the screen by Mort Fine and Dave Friedkin from the Helen Eustis novel.

And the way it all happened sounds as if it were fiction instead of truth. Mary Miner, the daughter of Worthington Miner, and friend of the Alberts, suggested to director Jose Quintero that Eddie Jr., would be perfect for a leading role in this Tony Perkins movie. Quintero was sold and took a test. Young Eddie passed with flying colors — and he's now on his way.

What memories I had when George Montgomery telephoned from Chicago when he was starring in "King of Hearts" at the Drury Lane Theatre. He said that Mrs. Charles Walgreen of the famous drug store family stopped by to have dinner with him and see the show.

Mrs. Walgreen will be 85 next July 5 and I introduced George to her 22 years ago when Dixon, Ill., had a Louella Parsons day. George, Bob Hope, Jerry Colonna, Ronald Reagan, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon all made the trip to help me celebrate.

We stayed at Mrs. Walgreen's gorgeous estate, Hazelwood, and she was a superb hostess. She has now written a book which she is calling "Never a Dull Day" and she has some tall tales to tell.

Sat at the same table with Oscar-winner Horton Foote at the writer's dinner and learned that he has written a new play for Broadway which will star Robert Loggia. It's called "Habitation of Dragons" and according to Mr. Foote, whose script of "To Kill a Mockingbird" won him the Academy Award, "My play is not about sex, dope fiends, incest or insanity. It's about a family of east Texans and they're nice people." Which makes him the optimist of the year, I guess.

Anyway, he signed the contract with Loggia under the most wholesome conditions, having gone on the set of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" in which Loggia plays Joseph to get his signature.

insists we HAVE been invited and repeats the "Come and see us sometime" line.

I have told him repeatedly that I don't consider this an invitation but he claims I am thin-skinned and too formal.

If I am wrong about this I wish you would tell me. If my husband is wrong, please tell him so he will get off my back. Thank you.

—NOT SURE

Dear Not: "Come and see us sometime" is a polite phrase equivalent to "How are you." About 95% of the people who ask: "How are you?" don't really care. And the same goes for people who say "Come and see us sometime."

A meaningful invitation includes a specific day and time.

Three In Race For Mayoralty At Keyser

Trio Also Filed For Council Seat

KEYSER—A triangular race for the office of mayor and one vacancy on City Council was realized here with the last-minute filing of Councilman Lester H. Oates for mayor.

Oates, a member of council since 1949 with the exception of one year (1951-52), served as water commissioner for his first term and has been street commissioner since. He has been elected to seven two-year terms and is now completing his thirteenth year, being last elected in 1962.

Should Oates be successful in his campaign for the mayor's seat, that would create another vacancy in council that would have to be filled either by a special election or by appointment through the remaining two councilmen and mayor.

A resident of Keyser for 40 years, he has been employed for 33 years by the Potomac Light and Power Company and is now meter foreman for the Keyser district.

Oates is a member of Grace Methodist Church and has been active in Boy Scouting for a number of years, having served as Scoutmaster for troops at both the Grace Methodist and Presbyterian churches. He has also been a district commissioner and a member and chairman of troop committees.

He and his wife, Julia, reside at 80 A Street.

Others competing for the office of mayor are former Mayor John C. Freeland and a newcomer to the city government, Harland D. Ridder.

Edward Daskal, Richard C. Herndon and Robert L. Fisher are running for the council seat now held by Raymond L. Murray, water commissioner.

City voters will nominate two for each office at the May 21 primary, and the two survivors will battle it out in the June 4 general election. The terms of both the mayor and councilman are for a period of two years.

Better Basic Wage Backed For Workers

Mayor Earl D. Chaney will support the Civil Service Commission's position that any additional pay program should be considered only after every employe has been given a better basic wage.

The recommendation was made by the commission March 27 in a letter to the Mayor and Council after it reviewed an outstanding service increment plan presented by Milton B. Millon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland at the request of the Mayor and Council.

The commission said it had discussed the plan and that it was the consensus of opinion that it would not be the best plan for the city at this time."

The board said that before any meritorious program is established for city employes, a general wage increase should be given.

This, the board said, would not impair the job classification and wage scale which is in existence but would include all employes, rather than a few, adding:

"After every employe has been given a better basic wage then, and only then, should an additional pay program be established, known as a longevity plan. The commission is of the opinion that the Longevity plan would be the better of the two."

Mayor Chaney said he would like to get the issue settled and thinks the wage scale should be adjusted upward as the commission suggests.

Mr. Million presented the proposals in response to a city request for some way to compensate staffers who perform valued services without upsetting the wage classification plan.

He suggested that an employe who performs duties or responsibilities in an outstanding manner could be considered for an outstanding service award, in addition to his annual wage increment, when a promotion may not be possible or warranted and suggested that such a reward be limited to a two-step advancement in the compensation plan or an equivalent cash award, available not more than once a year.

Report Cites Fruit Pests

Fruit growers of this area may be interested in learning that the first codling moth adults emerged in eages earlier this month.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said that a report from the Hancock area indicates that adult and immature stages of the European red mite along with newly deposited eggs are present in orchards.

Two-spotted spider mites are also depositing eggs, according to Steger, who said the rosy apple aphid has been scarce to date. The dry warm weather has been favorable for spiter mite buildups and several heavy infestations on strawberries were seen on Maryland's Lower Shore.

On strawberries at least one application should be made each spring to prevent buildup. Add Kethane to one of the regular sprays, said Mr. Steger.

He added that if mites are present, you should use the Kethane plus Tedion combination.

Zoning Appeals Board To Meet Tonight

Astronaut Flies

cision that Mercury control computers calculated he could stay in space for 92 orbits.

There was no question of keeping Cooper aloft that long, however, since the spacecraft did not have life support systems for so long a flight.

Christopher Kraft, Mercury project flight director, said "I don't think we have ever seen a smoother flight . . . We have no problems with any system."

Cooper was using less fuel than his flight plan called for, and using up so little of his oxygen that a doctor kiddingly told him that he could begin breathing "any time."

Dr. Charles Berry, the astronaut's physician, said Cooper was "relaxed very, very well" and telemetry signals of his pulse, blood pressure and temperature showed "no physical abnormalities." Testing the effects of prolonged space flight on the astronaut's body is one of the main pusposes of this flight.

Dr. Berry said Cooper, notorious for his ability to doze off at any time, was relaxed "about to the point of sleeping" during the countdown when he was perched atop a steaming Atlas rocket.

Once safely in orbit, Berry said, Cooper reported that "he had a little cat nap and it felt good." That was over California on his second orbit.

He said there were no signs of fatigue or restlessness, and that all of the astronaut's bodily mechanisms and senses were working well.

"He sounds exceptionally alert and ready to go on," Berry said.

Kraft said Cooper was "taking pictures as he sees fit" to make a photographic record of the flight.

Mercury officials summed it all up by saying that the confident spaceman from Shawnee, Okla., was "very much on top of his mission."

If Cooper goes the whole route as expected, he will splash down in the Pacific Ocean about 7:20 p.m., EDT Thursday after a trip of 575,000 miles and the rare experience of seeing 22 sunsets in less than two days.

Things were going so well that Cooper reported after his second orbit: "I'm really comfortable, in fact I had a little nap." His doctors said this was normal, he sometimes falls asleep when they take his blood pressure.

But he also was a busy man, sending television pictures back to earth and carrying out his many other assigned tasks. Testing techniques for possible space rendezvous in future flights, he released a small flashing beacon and observed it from his capsule.

In his experiment with the flashing beacon, Cooper first reported he was unable to see it. But as he began his fifth orbit over California about mid-afternoon he sent back a successful report. He had observed the flashing lights.

Annual Reports Given At PTA Council Meeting

The presidents of the parent-teachers associations of the Allegany County Council, PTA, this week gave their annual reports during the final council meeting of the year at the Westernport Elementary School.

Mrs. Claude Ward, president of the council, was in charge of the meeting during which time the presidents of the associations were introduced by William McDowell, program chairman.

Mrs. Ward announced that the summer conference for parents and teachers will be held July 11-13 at the University of Maryland.

The council will pay the expenses of a delegate from the Westernport Elementary School and an alternate delegate will be from Gephart School. Each association will send a delegate, said Mrs. Ward.

A council workshop will be held on May 22 at 7:15 p.m. in the Thomas G. Pullen School in Frostburg, said Mrs. Harold Hartle, workshop chairman.

and paper mill wastes. This $4,500,000 plant was placed in operation early in 1960.

Although it is a secondary treatment plant designed for a capacity of 21,000,000 gallons daily, it now averages about 14,000,000 gallons each day. Nearly 97 per cent of the waste comes from the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, but municipal sewage from Westernport and Luke also is treated so as to remove 80 to 85 per cent of the suspended solids. Piedmont's sewage will be added when its sewers are laid.

Dinner Held Here

The last stop was at Savage River Dam. The buses returned to Cumberland over State Route 36 from Westernport to Frostburg and east on U. S. Route 40.

Evening activities at the Fort Cumberland Hotel included a social hour and dinner. State Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr. of Prince George's County, chairman of the commission, introduced other members of the commission, including George F. Hazelwood of Cumberland, who has been a member of the commission since October 1945.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney, introduced by Mr. Hazelwood, welcomed the approximately 100 visitors to Cumberland.

Business sessions of the commission will be held this morning and afternoon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Beall Tops Southern, 3-0, To Take Potomac Valley Conference Lead

Diehl Tosses Two-Hitter For Mountaineers

Frostburgers Go Ahead Of Keyser In PVC Standings

Beall High School's Mountaineers, behind the airtight pitching of senior righthander Billy Diehl, moved into first place in the Potomac Valley Conference yesterday afternoon with a 3-0 victory over Southern at Oakland.

The victory was the sixth in seven PVC games for the Mountaineers, and moved them ahead of Keyser (5-1) into first place. The only conference loss suffered by Coach Moose Arnone's tossers was a 5-4 upset at the hands of LaSalle.

Diehl allowed only four Southern base runners yesterday. He surrendered two singles, walked one batter and hit a batsman. His teammates played errorless ball behind him. Diehl struck out nine in evening his record at 2-2.

The Mountaineers picked up two runs in the second inning on a bases-loaded single by Bob Ashby. Jim Brady and Dennis Bartlett hit back-to-back singles and a walk to Dana Robertson loaded the sacks, setting the stage for Ashby's timely bingle. The visitors scored their final run in the seventh inning.

Ashby led Beall's eight-hit attack with two singles and a double in four at-bats, and Brady came through with a pair of singles. Terry Imhoff and Frank Finch were the only Highlanders to touch Diehl for singles.

Yesterday's triumph upped Beall's overall record to 7-4. Southern is 2-4 in the PVC, and 3-4 overall.

Giants Defeat Bucs On Only Four Hits, 4-3

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants, capitalizing on the wildness of veteran right-hander Don Cardwell and a two-run error by bonus rookie Bob Bailey, defeated the pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, Wednesday on only four singles.

Cardwell, now 1-5 for the season, wrecked himself in the fifth inning by walking pitcher Juan Marichal with the bases loaded. Then he hit Felipe Alou with a pitch to force across another run.

Two more tallies both unearned came in when Willie Mays hit a hard grounder which skipped past third baseman Bailey into left field for an error.

Marichal, with the aid of Bob Bolin's second save in as many games, picked up his fifth victory against three defeats. The fire-balling Bolin took over in the eighth inning after the Pirates had scored twice off Marichal while bombing him for three extra-base hits during the frame.

With Bill Mazeroski on second as the result of a double, Bolin put out the fire by making Bailey hit back to third baseman Jim Davenport, who made a fine play on the ball to throw him out and retire the side.

The Pirates belted Marichal for eight hits in seven and two-thirds innings. During their eighth-inning uprising Bob Skinner tripled in one run after Bill Virdon had doubled and Willie Stargell brought Skinner in with a sacrifice fly.

Fort Hill Track Team In Triangular Meet At Johnstown Today

Allegany Hosts Altoona Team, Seeks Revenge

Windber High, Johnstown Are Sentinels' Foes

Fort Hill's highly regarded track and field team gets a taste of Pennsylvania competition today at Johnstown, where the Sentinels will engage in a triangular meet against Johnstown High School and Windber High.

Allegany's thinclads, seeking revenge for a one-sided 88-30 defeat earlier in the season, are host to Altoona High School today. The dual meet at the Campobello track will start at 3:30 p. m.

Originally, Fort Hill was to have met Windber in a dual meet there, but the Windber team's track is in poor condition following auto racing over the weekend.

Johnstown Enters

The meet was moved to Johnstown High School, and Johnstown is getting into the act to make it a three-way affair.

Coach Paul Flick's Sentinels, enjoying one of the best seasons in the school's history, have won the Handley Invitational at Winchester, and the Cumberland Valley Athletic League meet at Frederick. They finished ninth in a field of more than 40 teams in the Bellaire (Ohio) Relays.

Altoona, the team which laced Allegany, reportedly defeated Johnstown twice, but by narrow margins on both occasions.

Second At Beall

Coach Ed Schwarz's Camper trackmen are getting back into action after a very brief respite. They finished second in the Beall Invitational at Frostburg Tuesday night, being nosed out 89-84 by the host Mountaineers.

Altoona High handed Allegany its first loss on April 24 in the Pennsylvania city, 88-30.

Physician Gives Palmer Clean Bill Of Health

LATROBE, Pa. (UPI) —Golfer Arnold Palmer got a clean bill of health from his physician Wednesday.

Dr. Joseph C. Dougherty said Palmer was in excellent condition but advised him to take a few weeks' rest.

Dougherty said Palmer has a small sebaceous cyst on his back which requires no treatment at present.

"In fact, he needs no therapy of any kind," Dougherty said. "I have advised him to rest for a few weeks because of the pressure of many commitments."

Palmer said his plans call for him to play in the Buick Open June 4-9, the Thunderbird Open June 10-16 and the U.S. Open beginning June 17.

Palmer, holder of professional golf's all-time money - winning record, has been in a slump recently. His last appearance was in the Colonial Open at Fort Worth, Tex., where he shot a 299 and won only $179.

Orioles' Milt Pappas Defeats Washington, 7-1, On Three-Hitter

Retzer's Homer Spoils Shutout Bid In Eighth

Senators' Cheney Beaten For Third Straight Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Milt Pappas pitched a three-hitter, retiring 18 batters in order at one stretch, as Baltimore whipped Washington 7-1 Wednesday night.

Pappas, who set down 18 straight Senators after Chuck Hinton's first inning single, gave up a single to Jim King in the seventh and lost his shutout bid in the eighth when Ken Retzer hit his first homer of the season.

Jim Gentile, Jackie Brandt and Jerry Adair hit home runs for the Orioles off Tom Cheney, the Senators' early-season wonder, who lost his third straight game. Cheney lasted five innings.

Gentile led off the second inning with his seventh homer. Brandt hit his in the third with one on, and Adair led off the fifth inning with his first win of the season.

The Senators waged a lengthy protest in the fourth inning, claiming Brandt's home run was foul, and for a few minutes it appeared that Cheney was going to refuse to pitch. The Senators had made two errors in the inning.

Pappas, making his first start since April 28 because of a spike wound, won his third without a loss. He struck out one and did not walk a batter.

Examiners Confirm Lipscomb Died From Heroin Overdose

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The death of gigantic pro football star Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, who was buried Wednesday in Detroit, was attributed by Baltimore medical examiners Wednesday to "an overdose of heroin."

The examiners made their report at the conclusion of lab tests on the organs of Lipscomb's body. It confirmed a preliminary report last Saturday which stated a "presumption" that Lipscomb died from "an overdose of narcotics."

The 6-foot, 6-inch star tackle of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who weighed 290 pounds, was found unconscious and breathing heavily when an ambulance was called to the apartment of a friend early Friday morning. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital at 7:55 a.m. EDT Friday.

The final medical report was issued Wednesday by Dr. Rusell Fisher, Baltimore's chief medical examiner.

Traces Of Heroin

He said his assistant, Dr. Paul Schweda, conducted an analysis which found "unchanged heroin at the injection site in Lipscomb's arm, and large amounts of degradation products, mainly morphine in the bile as well as a trace of the same in the urine."

"Based on these toxicology findings," said Dr. Fisher, "we conclude that death was due to an overdose of heroin, contributed to by a non-intoxicating amount of alcohol in the blood."

Dr. Fisher also cited tests which indicated Lipscomb took the heroin injection two to four hours before his death. This would be in line with a statement by Capt. Joseph Carroll of the narcotics squad on Saturday, who said that Lipscomb's Friday morning companion, 25-year-old Timothy Black, told him Big Daddy took heroin about 4 a.m. Friday.

Dr. Fisher said microscopic studies of Lipscomb's arm revealed "acute needle puncture lesions of two to four hours before death and older lesions of at least many days or weeks duration."

In addition, Dr. Fisher said another assistant, Dr. Rudiger Breitenbacker, examined Lipscomb's lungs and found an "inflammatory lesion which suggests he survived for about four hours (after the heroin injection) with beginning development of Broncho-pneumonia."

Black Is Being Held

Black is being held here on a charge of possession of narcotics paraphernalia — specifically with possession of a "makeshift" syringe believed to be the one used by Lipscomb.

Capt. Carroll said Saturday Black told him he purchased a "bag" of heroin for $12 early Friday morning and that he and Lipscomb then went to Black's apartment. He said Lipscomb became unconscious shortly after taking a shot of heroin.

Carroll said Black described futile efforts he made to revive Lipscomb by packing him in ice and by giving him an injection of table salt in water. A second man said to have helped in these efforts has been questioned by police but has not been identified.

Lipscomb's funeral services were held at the house of Diggs Chapel in Detroit and burial was at Lincoln Memorial Park Cemetery. Charles Hoskins of Detroit, his grandfather, was his closest surviving relative. Lipscomb was married and divorced three times and his parents are dead.

Dick Stuart Powers Bosox To Doubleheader Sweep

BOSTON (UPI) — Three-run and grand slam homers by Dick Stuart and Russ Nixon's clutch double Wednesday paced the Boston Red Sox to twi-night doubleheader victories, 9-3, 7-6, over the Los Angeles Angels.

Stuart's grand slam home run settled the opener and his three-run blast put the Red Sox on top in the night game. Both of the homers, his sixth and seventh of the season, cleared the 60-foot left field wall at Fenway Park some 350 feet from home plate.

Nixon's timely two-base hit, in the eighth inning, gave relief ace Dick Radatz the nightcap win, his third of the season.

With the score tied at 6-all, Boston's Lu Clinton singled off second game loser Dean Chance and went to third when Chance threw Stuart's sacrifice bunt into right field. Clinton was out on a rundown from Gary Geiger's fielder's choice but Stuart scored the winning run on the Nixon double, his third hit of the game.

The teams committed a total of nine errors in the doubleheader in which Angel slugger Leon Wagner and Stuart engaged in a run-batted - in duel. Wagner netted three for the night to total 24 for the season thus far, while Stuart matched the 24 with his seven for the night. Los Angeles outfielder George Thomas homered in the second game, his fourth of the year.

Yankees Beat Twins For 4th Straight, 4-3

New York Rallies From 3-0 Deficit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elston Howard's eighth-inning single following a misplay by Bernie Allen Wednesday climaxed a two-run rally that gave the New York Yankees a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The Yankees, in achieving their fourth straight victory, narrowed a 3-0 Minnesota lead when Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning. The winners reached loser Camilo Pascual for two more tallies in the eighth.

Tom Tresh started the game-winning rally in the eighth with a one-out single and raced to third on another single by Mantle. Joe Pepitone then hit what appeared to be a double play grounder to Allen, but the Twins' second baseman momentarily fumbled the ball and then threw the batter out at first while Tresh scored the tying run.

Howard's line single to right center scored Mantle with the run that earned reliever Bill Stafford his second victory of the season Stafford pitched two hitless innings after starter Ralph Terry was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Doubles by Rich Rollins and Pascual produced Minnesota's first run in the fifth inning. The Twins moved ahead 3-0 in the sixth on a double by Vic Power, a single by Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison's two-run bloop single which dropped behind the drawn-in Yankee infield.

Mantle's sixth homer of the season landed in the upper deck at Yankee Stadium following a single by Bobby Richardson in the sixth.

Pascual was removed with two out in the eighth, ending his string of four straight complete game victories.

Mets Ordered To Curb Garbage-Throwing Fans

By JOHN GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets were ordered Wednesday to stop their "new breed" of fans from throwing garbage at visiting players, but the Mets turned around and put part of the blame on outfielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati.

"We can't condone the fans throwing objects on the field," said business manager Jim Thomson of the Mets. "But players who taunt the fans don't help matters any."

That's exactly what the Mets said Robinson, one of the Reds' top sluggers, did during Sunday's doubleheader at the Polo Grounds. Met fans barraged Robinson with a collection of empty beer cans, apple cores, and recently deceased vegetables, until Robinson called "time" and the umpires threatened to forfeit the game to the Reds unless the cannonading stopped.

Wednesday National League President Warren C. Giles said in Cincinnati he has told Mets' President George Weiss to make sure it doesn't happen again.

Players Need Protection

"We do not intend to stifle fan enthusiasm," said Giles. "But visiting players, and the home team's players, too, are entitled to the protection of this office."

Bob Purkey, Reds' player representative, had filed an official complaint with Giles on the incident. And Giles said Weiss has assured him there will be "ample police protection" at future Mets games.

But Thomson and other Mets officials here made it plain they believe the Sunday incident wouldn't have happened if Robinson hadn't helped things along.

What Robinson was doing, Thomson said, was gesturing to the fans, indicating by a thumbs-down gesture he didn't think much of the Mets' team.

Motions Towards Fans

"He played left field on Saturday and motioned towards the fans, but there was no trouble because there was a bunch of 'midget Mets' (children) up there," Thomson said. "However on Sunday Robinson played right field and he made the same motions, indicating the Reds were a good team and the Mets weren't.

"But on Sunday," said Thomson, "he ran into a bunch of teenagers."

Tom Meany, publicity director for the Mets, said many of the ushers stationed in the right field stands reported that Robinson "incited" the fans.

The charges Sunday's near riot was "incited" by rival players drew angry denial Wednesday from the Cincinnati Reds in Chicago where the Reds played the Cubs.

"All they're doing is passing the buck," Frank Robinson said. "I played in two fields on Saturday and Sunday and they threw things at me from the stands on both days.

"There were younger fans, cub scout age behind me Saturday, but they threw things just as much as the older fans did Sunday," he said.

Robinson said he had made no motions toward the crowd that could be interpreted as antagonizing them although he said that on Sunday "I decided that you can't beat them so you might as well join them and turned around to ask them why?"

Centerfielder Vada Pinson said the fans threw at him, too, and "I didn't make any motions or turn around or do anything I just stood there with my back to them and they kept right on throwing."

Mets Snap Houston's Win Streak

Lefty Al Jackson Beats Colts, 7-4

HOUSTON (UPI) — The New York Mets rallied behind the clutch pitching of lefty Al Jackson to snap Houston's six-game winning streak with a 7-4 victory.

New York took advantage of three unearned runs to provide the stimulus and went on to pound Colt pitching for 13 hits in salvaging the final game of the series.

The Mets scored an unearned run in the second and added two more in the fifth to take a 3-0 lead.

Jackson, who gave up nine hits was in trouble only once and that was in the ninth when Houston got three runs on singles by Bob Aspromonte and Howie Goss followed by John Bateman's three-run home run. The little lefty walked one and fanned five to pick up his fourth win against three losses. Houston's other run was unearned in the fifth.

New York got its first earned runs off Colt pitching in the seventh off Russ Kemmerer, who had taken over for starter Ken Johnson the sixth. Singles by Jackson and Ron Hunt, a walk to Charley Neal and Ed Kranepool's sacrifice fly did the damage.

The Mets final two runs came in the eighth on a triple by Tim Harkness, Jim Hickman's single and a sacrifice fly by Jackson before Houston's fifth pitcher Hal Woodeshick came on to put out the fire.

Unofficial Speed Record Is Set At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A short period of perfect weather just before a rain brought a burst of fantastic speed at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Wednesday, including an unofficial record 153.139 miles per hour by Parnelli Jones.

The Torrance, Calif., driver, who set the official record of 150.729 in qualifications for last year's 500-mile race, used the same Agajanian Special in Wednesday's practice run.

He had a new Offenhauser engine, however, and the Watson chassis has had about $11,000 worth of improvements since last year.

The air was cool and damp, with no wind, when Jones screamed around the relatively flat, 2½-mile course in 58.77 seconds. He turned 11 laps at more than 150 m.p.h.—a speed never reached at the 53-year-old track until last year.

Jim Clark of Scotland started the hot practice session for Saturday's opening time trials by running four laps at more than 150 in a Lotus-Ford.

The fastest car Saturday will earn the No. 1, or pole, position for the 47th Memorial Day race, regardless of later speeds.

Old Germans Battle Gilmore Here Today

Barton's undefeated Braves are idle today but the six other teams in the Twilight Baseball League are slated to see action in 5:30 games.

Gilmore (1-2) plays the Cumberland Old Germans (2-2) at Municipal Baseball Park in South End, Franklin (0-4) entertains Lonaconing (1-2) at Westernport and Keyser (3-1) is slated to play the Old Exports (1-2) at Midland.

Barton is setting the pace with a 5-0 record.

Three Clubs, Three Aces

SYDNEY (AP)—Jim Schofield, a 79-year-old 14-handicap golfer, scored three holes-in-one on the Bondi municipal course last year. He plays with only three clubs—a driver, No. 3 iron and a putter.

They've got it figured out that Manager Bill Rigney of the Angels walked nine miles last year to and from the mound as he changed his pitchers 345 times.

Ticket sales for Notre Dame football this fall are running three to one ahead of last year's sales.

Harman Youth Killed As Car Strikes Truck

A 19-year-old Harman, W. Va., youth was killed instantly yesterday morning when the car he was operating collided with a truck near Alpena, W. Va. in Randolph County.

The victim, Jeddie Riley Cooper, was thrown from his automobile when it struck the rear of a limestone truck on U.S. Route 33 on the west side of Shaffer Mountain.

The victim's brother, Daniel Lee Cooper, 22, a passenger in the car, escaped serious injury but is a patient in Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins. He was admitted to the hospital for observation.

Troopers J. R. Potts and C. L. Hughes of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Elkins, said the Cooper youth was attempting to pass the truck when he saw another vehicle approaching. Police said the youth tried to get back in his lane of traffic but the car skidded into the rear of the truck.

Both brothers were thrown from the car and Danny was found walking near the scene of the accident in a dazed condition.

John P. Harvey, 50, of Keyser, driver of the truck, was not injured in the collision.

The victim was born at Whitmer, W. Va., and was a son of Waldo and Janet (Mullennex) Cooper. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Harman.

Also surviving are three other brothers, Sammy, Jeffrey and Gregory Cooper, all at home; three sisters, Barbara, Vanersa and Sarah Cooper, all at home, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Cooper, Harman.

Services will be conducted Friday at 1 p.m. at Harman Presbyterian Church by Rev. Melvin Myers. Burial will be in the Mullennex Family Cemetery at Job, W. Va.

The body is at the Spiggle Funeral Home, Davis, W. Va.

City Building Placards To Be Issued

The Engineering Department of the City of Cumberland today will begin issuing building permit placards for each authorized construction job.

The new placards were designed by George Scarlett, acting building inspector, and approved by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who serves as the city's building engineer.

The placard is made of heavy cardboard about 8 by 12 inches and contains all of the important data about the construction project which has been approved.

It lists the type of construction, for example, one-story dwelling, the dimensions, the distance it is to set back and side and rear yard sizes.

The signs must be posted in a prominent location on the building site or remodeling project, and are expected to be of service to identify the construction project, to police checking to see that work is authorized and to the general public.

Officials believe the placards are durable enough to last during the course of the project. Small notices were used for the same purpose a number of years ago.

The placards will not take the place of official building permits, which will be issued as usual.

Pollution Curbs Are Observed By Commission

Bus Tour Takes Visitors To Points

Five improvements, all completed within the last 12 years, designed to improve water quality or reduce pollution of the Potomac River were viewed yesterday by those attending the two-day spring meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

Two chartered buses took representatives from four states and the District of Columbia on an Allegany-Garrett County tour starting at 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

The tour took them to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch, the city sewage treatment plant at the end of Offutt Street in South Cumberland, the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Fibers Corporation, the waste treatment plant at Westernport, and finally the Savage River Dam.

Oldest of the installations observed was the Savage River Dam, which was completed in November 1951. This dam, which covers 20,000 acre feet has a capacity of 6,500,000,000 gallons of water.

Purposes of Dam

Designed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, it is operated by the Upper Potomac River Commission. Its purposes are the regulation of the flow of the Potomac River at Luke, alleviation of pollution, incidental flood control and municipal water supplies for Westernport and Piedmont.

The tour began at Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. There the visitors from Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia saw two 35-acre lagoons which are used in the treatment of industrial waste from the glass plant.

These lagoons, completed in 1957 when the plant went into operation, have a 250-million-gallon capacity. They have an estimated life of 17 years from 1957.

The influent from the PPG plant to the east lagoon is primarily sand and rogue, which is too alkaline for accepted standards. About 140 tons of sand is dumped into the lagoon each day.

To reduce its alkalinity, some 42 gallons of sulfuric acid is added to the lagoons each day. The lagoons retain the PPG waste for four to six months. Also examined near the PPG plant was the small sewage disposal plant, considered adequate, to treat the sanitary sewage. Although the plant employs 750 persons, there are never more than 400 to 500 of them at work at the same time.

Sewage Plant Visited

From North Branch, the buses took the visitors to the $2,000,000 Cumberland sewage treatment plant. There they were met by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city commissioner of streets and public property, who welcomed them to the plant, generally considered the best maintained of all city-owned property.

William F. Miller, foreman at the plant, directed the visitors around the primary treatment plant which was completed August 1, 1957. The average daily flow at the plant is 5,200,000 gallons. Mr. Miller said that between 90 and 95 per cent of the settleable solids are removed, as are 40 to 45 per cent of the suspended solids.

Third step on the tour was Amcelle, where Celanese started operations in 1924, the first acetate fiber operation in the United States. This plant, which now employs about 3,000 persons, including a staff of 500. It uses about two million gallons of city water daily. In addition, between 40 and 50 millions gallons of river water is pumped out for cooling purposes.

New Lagoon Seen

At Celanese the tourists saw the newest effort at pollution abatement, a lagoon covering between eight and 10 acres, which is designed to remove fly ash as well as sanitary sewage. This lagoon retains the waste between 12 and 15 hours. Water running into the river from the lagoon is much clearer than that coming from the plant to the lagoon.

The tourists were guests of Celanese for lunch in the plant cafeteria.

From there they journeyed to Westernport to see the largest activated sludge plant ever constructed for the treatment of pulp

Soil Stewardship Week Observance To Begin Sunday

Next week has been designated as Soil Stewardship Week the purpose of which is to remind people in all walks of life that we are but stewards, not owners of God's soil, water, forests and wildlife.

Rural Life Sunday (the fifth Sunday after Easter) is the beginning of Soil Stewardship Week, the traditional observance of churches to emphasize the spiritual value of rural living and is sponsored by religious, agricultural, and other organizations.

Materials in the form of booklets, church programs and program inserts have been made available to churches by the local Soil Conservation District.

River Commission Meets Here

KEITH FRY

River Group's Assistant Visits Here

Keith Fry, a former research engineer with the Dow Chemical Company, is making his first visit to Cumberland is his new capacity as assistant executive director and sanitary engineer on the staff of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

The commission, involving four states and the District of Columbia, will end its two-day spring meeting today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

A graduate of Michigan State University, where he majored in sanitary engineering and civil engineering and water hydrology, Mr. Fry was retained by Dow Industrial Service and Dow Chemical, Midland, Mich., for more than two years.

While serving as a consultant representing Dow, Mr. Fry worked on the establishment of treatment chemicals and the preparation of an operations manual and effluent quality for a wastes disposal system at an Army chemical center.

Prior to his employment by Dow, Mr. Fry was a sanitarian with the Ingham County, Mich., Health Department in 1960, and during the previous year served with the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D. C.

Holder of a master's degree in sanitary engineering, Mr. Fry is a 28-year-old native of White Cloud, Mich. An Army veteran, he is married and has three children.

Shrine Circus Will Have Room For 20,000 Persons

Seating arrangements to accommodate more than 20,000 persons from the tri-state area during six giant performances are being pushed by Ali Ghan Shrine Temple in preparation for the internationally famous Hamid-Morton Circus which will play the Cumberland Fairgrounds for three days next month.

Operated by George Hamid, veteran showman who also runs the noted Steel Pier in Atlantic City, the circus here will consist of six performances — two on Friday, June 14, three on Saturday, June 15, and one on Sunday afternoon, June 16.

Three rings of thrills and action will be run continuously in the open air, free from seating limits imposed by tents.

Richard W. Kirsch, chairman of ticket sales for Ali Ghan Temple, said capacity crowds on all three days are expected to fill the Fairgrounds grandstand and numerous temperary bleachers.

Tickets for any of the six performances can be obtained from Shrine members or from numerous Cumberland and area business establishments, including some in Moorefield, Hancock, Hagerstown, Oakland and Keyser.

Student and adult ticket prices vary slightly, with reserved seat tickets which will seat the holder at "ringside" a little higher. Ali Ghan Temple also is providing at each nightly performance for 64 box seats which seat six persons at a special rate.

Beginning Monday, June 3, general admission tickets can be exchanged for reserved seat tickets at a downtown ticket office. Ali Ghan Temple has obtained use of the former "Kampus Shop," 131 Baltimore Street, to accommodate ticket buyers.

Ousted College Teachers Won't Get Hearings

Trustees Refuse To Intervene

BALTIMORE (AP)—The board of trustees of Maryland's state teachers' colleges refused Wednesday to grant a hearing to four Frostburg State Teachers College instructors whose contracts were not renewed.

The board said it felt it would be improper for it to intervene in the case.

R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, said he released three of the teachers because they were immature and the fourth because he was not continuing graduate studies.

The professors claimed they were not rehired because of their liberal ideas and because they wanted to introduce three controversial novels in their English courses. They claimed the president's action was a violation of academic freedom and requested a hearing with the board.

Jerome Framptom Jr., president of the board, read the statement after a four-hour closed meeting which said:

"By reason of their close association with their staffs, the college presidents are in the best position to judge the qualifications of probationary faculty members."

None of the four teachers had tenure.

Framptom noted that the board in 1962 "specifically authorized the presidents of the state teachers colleges to terminate the contracts of those probationary faculty members, who in the opinion of the presidents, should not be continued in employment."

Consequently, Framptom said, the board "is of the opinion that it would be improper to intervene in light of the president's action and that such intervention would be contrary to the very policies which the board has established in regard to tenure."

The release of the four instructors touched off student demonstrations and investigations by the American Association of University Professors and the American Civil Liberties Union, and criticism by some state senators.

Phone Workers Get Pay Boost, Medical Plan

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — More than 75 employes of General Telephone Co. of the South East returned to their jobs in Romney and Charles Town, W.va., Wednesday, ending a strike which started April 8.

W. Nyle School, General Telephone vice president, said all but three or four of the more than 80 striking employes went back to work. Those who did not return couldn't be informed immediately of the settlement, School said.

The terms of the two-year contract, accepted by members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Monday, include a 14-cent hourly wage boost.

School said the increases would be spread out this way: Six cents given immediately at the top scale, retroactive to the April 8 start of the strike; Oct. 8, top scale increased by one cent; April 4, 1964, 5-cents; and Oct. 8, 1964, 2-cents.

Also included in the settlement is the institution within a year of a medical expense plan.

Final details of the contract were hammered out at a union-management meeting here Tuesday and released Wednesday.

A final provision is that "combination men," phone installers and linemen, will work Monday through Saturday with one specified day off per week. In the past, linemen have worked Monday through Friday or Tuesday through Saturday. Under the new pact, they are guaranteed two consecutive days off every fourth week.
